ZERO HOUR APPEARS NEAR FOR CONFLICT IN MIDDLE EAST

BRITISH SHIPS MASS OFF SYRIAN COAST; TURK ANXIETY RISES

By the Associated Press

Great Britain clamped a blockade on French-ruled Syria and Lebanon today, declaring them "enemy occupied territory" and potential springboards for Adolf Hitler's war machine to strike at Palestine Cyprus and Egypt.

Powerful squadrons of the British fleet were reported massing off the Syrian coast, and all signs indicated that the "zero hour" of a vast new struggle was now very near.

Blasting at the main base of the British Mediterranean fleet, Axis warplanes were reported to have bombed Alexandria, Egypt, during the night, killing more than 100 persons.

The London radio reported that "French-type" planes bombed the capital city of Amman, in British-mandated Transjordan, as a reprisal for the British bombing of gasoline stores at Beirut, Lebanon.

The radio said the attack supported belief that French-type planes seen flying from Rhodes to Syria were manned by German pilots.

Turkey watched the crisis with mounting anxiety. Turkish Foreign Minister Sukru Saracoglu was reported to have informed German Ambassador Franz von Papen of Turkey's concern over the asserted debarkation of German troops in Syria.

Saracoglu told the Nazi envoy that Turkey was prepared to take additional security measures along her southeast frontier, facing Syria and Iraq, responsible sources in Ankara said.

The Turkish radio reported that 15,000 German troops had already slipped into Syria, many of them incongruously disguised as Jewish refugees, others bandaged and limping like wounded soldiers home from the wars.

Under cover of darkness, the Germans were also reported landing on the Syrian coast from small fishing vessels.

Reuters, British news agency, said that a dozen or more Nazi planes—mostly fighters—were arriving daily in Syria, and that 150 empty transport planes had arrived at Rayak airdrome Monday.

With 500,000 troops in the Middle East under the command of Gen. Sir Archibald P. Wavell, the British moved swiftly to counter the latest German threat. Imperial troops stationed in Palestine, Iraq and Cyprus were said to have been heavily reinforced in the past few days.

France's role in the impending conflict was further high-lighted by the unexpected arrival in Vichy of Governor Pierre Boisson of French West Africa, the "defender of Dakar" against an abortive attempt by Gen. Charles De Gaulle's "Free French" forces to seize that African coast town last September.

Boisson joined Generalissimo Maxime Weygand, commander of France's North African armies, in conferences regarding steadily deteriorating relations between France and her old ally, Britain.

Diplomatic circles in Vichy, meanwhile, declared that Hitler was planning a Europe-Africa "League of Nations," with France acting as a peace-making link with the Americas.

There was no confirmation of such a move elsewhere, however, and it appeared to be just another in a series of peace "trial balloons" set afloat by presumably Axis-inspired sources.

Hitler's High Command reported German night raiders bombed the English industrial city of Birmingham and the naval dockyards and arsenal at Chatham in "especially successful" attacks, setting spectacular fires in both cities. London had its 24th consecutive bomb-free night.

RAF warplanes struck at the Nazi-held port of Boulogne, France, and bombed the harbor at Zeebrugge, Belgium.

The London radio broadcast a Stockholm report that German and Italian artillery batteries were heavily shelling the defenses of the siege-bound British garrison at Tobruk, Libya.

In Ethiopia, the Fascist High Command said, two Italian columns routed British troops in the Galla Sidamo region, while other Italian forces inflicted heavy losses on a British Nigerian (native) regiment in another sector.

Morale of Army is Praised by Martin

Washington, June 5—(AP)—Army morale has never been better in the experience of Major General Edward Martin, commander of Pennsylvania's 28th Division.

Testifying before a House appropriations subcommittee, which made the testimony public today, General Martin said:

"I have never seen better morale than we now possess. There has never been an army housed as well, and there never has been an army fed as well; but there has never been an army that has worked as hard as the army is working right now."

In line with a proposal by Martin and other National Guard officers, the subcommittee recommended a $3,000,000 appropriation to continue an equipment housing program in the vicinity of armories so that material would be available at home stations for training purposes.

NAZI BOMBERS RAID TOWNS IN SOUTH ENGLAND

London, June 5.—(AP)—German planes in widespread attacks overnight bombed the Midlands, southeast and northwest England, East Anglia and London areas.

(Important war objectives in the Midlands and southern England were struck effectively by the luftwaffe last night, DNB, official German news agency, reported from Berlin.)

The government said casualties were not large and no extensive damage was done. It reported three German bombers were shot down.

London experienced its 24th consecutive bombless night.

Two British pursuit planes were missing, the British said, after air fighting early in the evening five miles above the English Channel.

The Admiralty also reported a Heinkel 111 bomber bagged today by a trawler. It said the trawler came out of the sea-air fight unharmed.

The channel fighting followed British daylight raids on the French coast. The raids were aimed especially at the port of Boulogne.

An Air Ministry communique said British bombers also attacked the harbor at Zeebrugge, hitting the Mole and cargo alongside.

The Ministry's news service said a 500-ton ship at Zeebrugge was "blown clean out of the water by a direct hit."

While other British planes machine-gunned gun emplacements, it said, the attack leader dropped bombs on cranes and other port facilities and was "certain the Mole was effectively damaged."

A supply vessel of about 5,000 tons, plying off the coast of Norway, was struck repeatedly and fired, the communique said.

LEADERS OF STRIKE IN HOSPITAL CONVICTED

Pittsburgh, June 5.—(AP)—Seven leaders of a two-months old strike of service employes of the West Penn hospital were convicted yesterday on charges of contempt of court by violating an anti-picketing injunction.

The convictions carry a maximum sentence of $100 fine and 15 days in jail each, but sentence was postponed pending a motion for a new trial. The defendants, all of Pittsburgh, include David Kanes, president of district 3 of the state, County and Municipal Workers Union.

FASCISTS TO MEET

New York, June 5.—(AP)—The Berlin radio, quoting from Rome, said today that Premier Mussolini will preside tomorrow at an extraordinary meeting of the Fascist council in which he is expected to make "an important declaration." The broadcast was heard here by NBC.

DOUBLING OF ARMY STRENGTH IS ANTICIPATED

Surprise Disclosure Department is Rushing New Billion Dollar Camp Construction Program Seen As Move to Expand

TONNAGE INCREASING

Washington, June 5.—(AP)—The surprise disclosure that the army was rushing a new billion dollar camp construction program led informed legislators to believe today that the War Department had decided to increase the field forces to 2,800,000 men—double their present strength.

One member of congress with close War Department connections said that the new camp program meant "that the international situation is such that it has been deemed wise to prepare for this new emergency that may be approaching our shores."

The first intimation that the program was under way came from the army's construction quartermaster, Brigadier General Brehon Somervel, during testimony before a House military sub-committee yesterday.

Within the previous 24 hours, he told the committee, he had received orders to rush the award of contracts for construction work totalling "about $1,000,000,000." Declining to provide details, he explained that "in some respects

DUTCH TO REPLY TO JAPAN FRIDAY

Batavia, Netherlands East Indies, June 5.—(AP)—On the eve of The Netherlands Indies' fateful reply to Japanese demands for quantities of such war essentials as rubber, oil, tin and copra, the newspaper Javabode tonight quoted Japanese negotiator Kenkichi Yoshizawa as declaring:

"We have reached the edge of a precipice; now we either fall over or retain our foothold. The next 24 hours are decisive."

Reliable sources indicated that the promised Dutch reply to the long-drawn-out trade negotiations with the Japanese would be an offer of substantially smaller amounts than the Japanese want, and that the Japanese would refuse.

The formal Dutch reply to the Japanese trade proposals is scheduled to be delivered to a Japanese delegation tomorrow.

Although the nature of the reply was not disclosed, it was understood that Netherlands authorities

FLOODS IN STATE ARE SUBSIDING

Rain-Swollen Waters of Monongahela and Youghiogheny Rivers Expected to Fall Rapidly After Causing Considerable Damage in Sections of Eight Communities In Three Counties in Southwest Penn'a.

STONY CREEK SPILLS OVER AT JOHNSTOWN

Pittsburgh, June 5—(AP)—Floodwaters of the rain-swollen Monongahela, which claimed three lives and possibly a fourth on the headwaters, swept on this industrial center today but weather forecasters said clearing skies had averted threats of major flood damage.

Fed by the rampaging Cheat, Youghiogheny and smaller tributaries, the Monongahela passed flood stage of 25 feet in Pittsburgh at 9 a. m. and rose steadily toward a predicted crest of 28 feet. At 30 feet, the river spills into lowlying sections of the city.

At Johnstown, Stony Creek river swirled into the basements of several stores and flooded riverfront streets of the historic "flood city." The river climbed to a 13½ foot level there at 9 a. m., and continued to rise.

A heavy, two-day rainfall which ended before daybreak today also sent many smaller streams over their banks, the quick rush of water carrying away buildings and trees and blocking numerous roads and a few railroad lines for a time.

Sections of eight communities in three counties were inundated from a depth of several inches to seven or eight feet. They were Granville, California, Daisytown and Monongahela in Washington county; Greensboro and Waynesburg in Greene; and West Brownsville and Uniontown in Fayette.

Northern West Virginia towns, too, were flooded by swiftly rising streams yesterday, but while there was extensive property damage, no lives were lost in that state. The town of Hundred, W. Va., was hard hit—two "flash floods" raced through it within four hours.

In Washington, Greene and Fayette counties, however, flooded homes and streets were reminders of the disastrous March, 1936, floods in which 80 Pennsylvanians died and damage exceeded $200,000,000.

RESTRICTION ON OIL PROBABLE WITHIN MONTH

Washington, June 5—(AP)—Petroleum Administrator Ickes declared today restrictions on oil consumption in the east was "probable" within a month, and added that he hoped if severe measures become necessary they would be undertaken on a voluntary basis.

The deficiency of oil in the populous east, Ickes said, might become so critical that not only gasless Sundays might be necessary, but might mean "that we can't drive for pleasure on any day."

Restrictions now appeared necessary only in the east, he added.

Ickes strongly urged immediate application of daylight saving time for the whole country, and criticized C. W. Kellogg, president of the Edison Electric Institute, and chief of power for the Office of Production Management, for his recent statement that "the power situation will be found to have been adequately provided for."

There is a power shortage now, Ickes told his press conference, and it promises to become worse.

Returning to what he viewed as impending curtailment of oil consumption in the east, Ickes said the matter was being "definitely discussed" on a patriotic basis, "rather than by compulsion."

Reallocation of America's maritime tanker fleet appeared certain today in a quick government move to cope with the approaching oil shortage.

Meanwhile, administration lead-

Largest Class in History to be Graduated at 64th Annual Commencement Tonight

Largest class in the history of Warren High School will be graduated at the 64th annual commencement exercises to be held in the First Presbyterian church this evening at eight o'clock, when 297 young men and women will receive their diplomas.

Following the custom of the past several years, tonight's program will be in the form of a pageant play, with members of the Class of 1941 taking part.

This year's production, "Freedom Through the Ages," was written by Lois E. Johnson, Jane Sherwood and Mary Elizabeth Hamlin, assisted by Miss Anna Louise Kahl, dramatics instructor, and is directed by Miss Kahl.

Music will be provided by the high school orchestra under the direction of Harry Summers and a choir of underclassmen directed by Carroll A. Fowler. Shirley Allen will play the piano accompaniments for the pageant play.

The program will open with the processional march played by the orchestra as the members of the graduating class take their seats. The invocation will be by the Rev. Martin C. Hamlin, pastor of Calvary Baptist church.

At the conclusion of the pageant play, special awards and diplomas will be presented by Robert W. Mackay, treasurer of the local school board. Byron Knapp, a member of the Warren High School Class of 1917, will welcome the graduates into the alumni association. Harry Conroy, president of the Class of 1941, will respond.

The program will close with the singing of the Alma Mater by the class and the benediction by Rev. Hamlin.

Admission to the commencement exercises tonight is by ticket only, it was stated today by Principal Floyd W. Bathurst. He stated that those holding reserved tickets should be on hand early. The reserved tickets, he pointed out, are for a section only and not for a particular seat.

Final arrangements for the commencement exercises were made this morning when seniors held a last rehearsal of seating arrangements and other details at the Presbyterian church.

The school year will close officially tomorrow when students report to their respective rooms to receive their report cards.

NAZI OFFICIALS PAY TRIBUTE TO FORMER KAISER

As Berlin Leaders Complete Preparations for Funeral of Wilhelm II Messages of Condolence Are Received from Hitler and Others

SERVICES ON MONDAY

Doorn, Occupied Netherlands, June 5—(AP)—In Germany's official participation in funeral ceremonies for ex-Kaiser Wilhelm II, German Air Force General Friedrich Christiansen, military commander of the Netherlands, will lay a wreath on the grave on behalf of Adolf Hitler.

Arthur Seysz-Inquart, German head of the civilian administration of the occupied Netherlands, also will attend the services.

Messages of condolence have been received from Hitler, Field Marshal General Walther Von Brauchitsch, commander-in-chief of the German army; Field Marshal General Wilhelm Keitel, chief of the German High Command; and Heinrich Himmler, chief of the Gestapo.

Reichsmarshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering messaged Kaiserin Hermine, the crown prince and August Wilhelm condolences on behalf of himself and his wife.

Dressed in a field marshal's uniform of the Imperial German army he once commanded, ex-Kaiser Wilhelm lay in the small bedroom where he died yesterday.

The former emperor will be buried Monday with military honors on Hitler's orders.

The German High Command has taken charge of preparations in connection with the military phase of the funeral and the Rev. Bruno Doehring of Berlin's Protestant cathedral will perform the rites of the Lutheran church.

Rev. Doehring, a frequent visitor to Doorn, usually preached the sermon at the ex-kaiser's birthday celebrations. He also baptized most of Wilhelm's grandchildren.

The former kaiser's death was attributed to a blood clot entering the lungs. Earlier he had suffered

INDUSTRIALIST OF NOTE IS DEAD

New York, June 5—(AP)—Arthur Curtiss James, whose business was in trains and whose pleasure was in yachts, died last night, one of the nation's wealthiest but least-known industrialists.

Pneumonia won a week-long siege with the 74-year-old railroad builder at Harness Pavilion.

Despite his financial, philanthropic, social and yachting activities, the real titan's quiet unobtrusiveness kept him almost completely out of the public eye, and he was better known as a yachtsman than a capitalist.

James' great wealth—at one time estimated at $350,000,000 in 40,000 miles or about a seventh of the country's total railroad mileage—stemmed from inherited copper, silver and gold mines and rail securities.

He twice sailed around the world in his beautiful square-rigged Aloha, and once ran her from New York to Gibraltar in 16 days, himself at the helm.

Harrisburg, June 5—(AP)—Democrats in both branches of the general assembly caucused today and came out with a resolution proposing an investigation of assertions made in the senate that a "criminal conspiracy" existed in the legislature to favor bills for "certain groups."

Harrisburg, June 5.—(AP)—The House refused today to agree to Senate changes in a bill to increase the maximum weight limits on motor trucks allowed on Pennsylvania highways—a measure which provoked the Senate's stormiest debate of the session. By this action the House started the bill toward a conference committee to iron out differences over weights that should be permitted.

Harrisburg, June 5—(AP)—Governor James today promised "every aid the attorney general's office can give" to investigate assertions made in the Senate that a "criminal conspiracy" existed in the general assembly to pass legislation favorable to "certain groups."

DISPUTE CLOSES LARGE AVIATION PLANT ON COAST

By the Associated Press

A new CIO strike, enforced as the Defense Mediation Board considered the dispute, closed the big North American Aviation Corporation's airplane plant at Inglewood, Calif., today and caused immediate speculation in Washington whether President Roosevelt might take drastic steps to end stoppages in defense industries.

The walkout at North American was the second rejection in 24 hours of proposals of the Mediation Board.

The company has $196,000,000 worth of contracts for planes for the United States and British governments.

This new walkout was announced only a few hours after the board had been denounced by O. M. Orton, president of 12,000 striking CIO lumber workers in the Pacific northwest. Orton accompanied the denunciation with a flat refusal to abide by the board's public recommendation for settlement.

Orton quit the capital late yesday, issuing a statement accusing the board of "bulldozing" and "strikebreaking."

Imminent threats of strike action in two other essential ingredients of national defense, coal and aluminum, faced the board.

Postponed from yesterday was a board conference with northern and southern soft coal mine operators and the United Mine Workers (CIO). The board has summoned them to hear its recommenda-

LIFE SENTENCE FOR KILLING NEIGHBOR

Uniontown, June 5.—(AP)—Life imprisonment was the sentence imposed on Emory J. Keefer, 28-year-old mountaineer, who pleaded guilty to killing his neighbor, William Busse, last March 21.

Keefer told Judge W. Russell Carr, before receiving sentence yesterday, he had waited in Busse's home and shot his neighbor because he feared for his own life, after having accused Busse of having improper relations with Mrs. Keefer, his wife.

Mrs. Lena Keefer, the defendant's frail mother, testified her son never had seemed "like a grown man" to her but more like a boy. An alienist described Keefer as a "pathological type but legally sane."

Boy In Iron Lung Is Presented a Diploma

Pittsburgh, June 5.—(AP)—Jimmy Colton, 17-year-old infantile paralysis victim, has been confined to an "iron lung" for 20 months, but nevertheless he was graduated from Mars High School yesterday along with his classmates.

James L. Latham, president of the Mars school board, presented the boy with a diploma at Children's Hospital here, where he is a patient. Jimmy was also made happy by a gold engraved football he once played on the school grid team and other gifts brought by Mars high letter men.

In the evening the "boiler boys" heard via a two-hour telephone hookup the graduation exercises of his class at Mars in Butler county.

PROVIDES FOR 40,000 AIRPLANES

Measure Appropriating $10,009,655 for War Department Program is Released by Committee With Blunt Notice That Huge Fund is Insufficient; Mounting Costs Given As One of Reasons

BARRAGE BALLOONS INCLUDED IN LIST

Washington, June 5—(AP)—A $10,009,655,187 army supply bill—largest single appropriation since World War days—carrying funds to give the air corps a total of 40,000 planes was sent to the house by its appropriations committee today with a blunt notice that the huge fund was insufficient.

During secret testimony on the measure, made public today, Robert P. Patterson, undersecretary of war, solemnly told the committee while discussing the vastly expanded plane program that:

"We have in the War Department a feeling that there will be a military need of all the planes covered by this program."

The undersecretary did not amplify that statement for the record but said that it was estimated conservatively that Germany's current airplane productive capacity was 3,000 monthly and that the Nazis already have embarked on a program of utilizing the facilities of conquered countries which would increase her plane capacity to between 4,000 and 6,000 monthly.

In recommending $10,000,000,000 outlay to finance the army's greatly expanded activities for the year starting July 1, the committee said it would bring the total of defense appropriations, contract authorizations and recommendations since last July 1 to $30,115,051,142—exclusive of the $7,000,000,000 provided for the lend-lease program and the $6,000,000,000 required to complete the two-ocean navy.

Despite these gigantic outlays, the committee said that barring a slackening of the defense program's tempo, the pending bill would not be adequate for the coming fiscal year because costs already were higher than when the estimates were prepared. The

DUTCH TO REPLY TO JAPAN FRIDAY

Batavia, Netherlands East Indies, June 5.—(AP)—On the eve of The Netherlands Indies' fateful reply to Japanese demands for quantities of such war essentials as rubber, oil, tin and copra, the newspaper Javabode tonight quoted Japanese negotiator Kenkichi Yoshizawa as declaring:

"We have reached the edge of a precipice; now we either fall over or retain our foothold. The next 24 hours are decisive."

Reliable sources indicated that the promised Dutch reply to the long-drawn-out trade negotiations with the Japanese would be an offer of substantially smaller amounts than the Japanese want, and that the Japanese would refuse.

The formal Dutch reply to the Japanese trade proposals is scheduled to be delivered to a Japanese delegation tomorrow.

Although the nature of the reply was not disclosed, it was understood that Netherlands authorities

FLOODS IN STATE ARE SUBSIDING

Rain-Swollen Waters of Monongahela and Youghiogheny Rivers Expected to Fall Rapidly After Causing Considerable Damage in Sections of Eight Communities In Three Counties in Southwest Penn'a.

STONY CREEK SPILLS OVER AT JOHNSTOWN

Pittsburgh, June 5—(AP)—Floodwaters of the rain-swollen Monongahela, which claimed three lives and possibly a fourth on the headwaters, swept on this industrial center today but weather forecasters said clearing skies had averted threats of major flood damage.

Fed by the rampaging Cheat, Youghiogheny and smaller tributaries, the Monongahela passed flood stage of 25 feet in Pittsburgh at 9 a. m. and rose steadily toward a predicted crest of 28 feet. At 30 feet, the river spills into lowlying sections of the city.

At Johnstown, Stony Creek river swirled into the basements of several stores and flooded riverfront streets of the historic "flood city." The river climbed to a 13½ foot level there at 9 a. m., and continued to rise.

A heavy, two-day rainfall which ended before daybreak today also sent many smaller streams over their banks, the quick rush of water carrying away buildings and trees and blocking numerous roads and a few railroad lines for a time.

Sections of eight communities in three counties were inundated from a depth of several inches to seven or eight feet. They were Granville, California, Daisytown and Monongahela in Washington county; Greensboro and Waynesburg in Greene; and West Brownsville and Uniontown in Fayette.

Northern West Virginia towns, too, were flooded by swiftly rising streams yesterday, but while there was extensive property damage, no lives were lost in that state. The town of Hundred, W. Va., was hard hit—two "flash floods" raced through it within four hours.

In Washington, Greene and Fayette counties, however, flooded homes and streets were reminders of the disastrous March, 1936, floods in which 80 Pennsylvanians died and damage exceeded $200,000,000.

RESTRICTION ON OIL PROBABLE WITHIN MONTH

Washington, June 5—(AP)—Petroleum Administrator Ickes declared today restrictions on oil consumption in the east was "probable" within a month, and added that he hoped if severe measures become necessary they would be undertaken on a voluntary basis.

The deficiency of oil in the populous east, Ickes said, might become so critical that not only gasless Sundays might be necessary, but might mean "that we can't drive for pleasure on any day."

Restrictions now appeared necessary only in the east, he added.

Ickes strongly urged immediate application of daylight saving time for the whole country, and criticized C. W. Kellogg, president of the Edison Electric Institute, and chief of power for the Office of Production Management, for his recent statement that "the power situation will be found to have been adequately provided for."

There is a power shortage now, Ickes told his press conference, and it promises to become worse.

Returning to what he viewed as impending curtailment of oil consumption in the east, Ickes said the matter was being "definitely discussed" on a patriotic basis, "rather than by compulsion."

Reallocation of America's maritime tanker fleet appeared certain today in a quick government move to cope with the approaching oil shortage.

Meanwhile, administration lead-

Largest class in the history of Warren High School will be graduated at the 64th annual commencement exercises to be held in the First Presbyterian church this evening at eight o'clock, when 297 young men and women will receive their diplomas.

Following the custom of the past several years, tonight's program will be in the form of a pageant play, with members of the Class of 1941 taking part.

This year's production, "Freedom Through the Ages," was written by Lois E. Johnson, Jane Sherwood and Mary Elizabeth Hamlin, assisted by Miss Anna Louise Kahl, dramatics instructor, and is directed by Miss Kahl.

Music will be provided by the high school orchestra under the direction of Harry Summers and a choir of underclassmen directed by Carroll A. Fowler. Shirley Allen will play the piano accompaniments for the pageant play.

The program will open with the processional march played by the orchestra as the members of the graduating class take their seats. The invocation will be by the Rev. Martin C. Hamlin, pastor of Calvary Baptist church.

At the conclusion of the pageant play, special awards and diplomas will be presented by Robert W. Mackay, treasurer of the local school board. Byron Knapp, a member of the Warren High School Class of 1917, will welcome the graduates into the alumni association. Harry Conroy, president of the Class of 1941, will respond.

The program will close with the singing of the Alma Mater by the class and the benediction by Rev. Hamlin.

Admission to the commencement exercises tonight is by ticket only, it was stated today by Principal Floyd W. Bathurst. He stated that those holding reserved tickets should be on hand early. The reserved tickets, he pointed out, are for a section only and not for a particular seat.

Final arrangements for the commencement exercises were made this morning when seniors held a last rehearsal of seating arrangements and other details at the Presbyterian church.

The school year will close officially tomorrow when students report to their respective rooms to receive their report cards.

NAZI OFFICIALS PAY TRIBUTE TO FORMER KAISER

As Berlin Leaders Complete Preparations for Funeral of Wilhelm II Messages of Condolence Are Received from Hitler and Others

SERVICES ON MONDAY

Doorn, Occupied Netherlands, June 5—(AP)—In Germany's official participation in funeral ceremonies for ex-Kaiser Wilhelm II, German Air Force General Friedrich Christiansen, military commander of the Netherlands, will lay a wreath on the grave on behalf of Adolf Hitler.

Arthur Seysz-Inquart, German head of the civilian administration of the occupied Netherlands, also will attend the services.

Messages of condolence have been received from Hitler, Field Marshal General Walther Von Brauchitsch, commander-in-chief of the German army; Field Marshal General Wilhelm Keitel, chief of the German High Command; and Heinrich Himmler, chief of the Gestapo.

Reichsmarshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering messaged Kaiserin Hermine, the crown prince and August Wilhelm condolences on behalf of himself and his wife.

Dressed in a field marshal's uniform of the Imperial German army he once commanded, ex-Kaiser Wilhelm lay in the small bedroom where he died yesterday.

The former emperor will be buried Monday with military honors on Hitler's orders.

The German High Command has taken charge of preparations in connection with the military phase of the funeral and the Rev. Bruno Doehring of Berlin's Protestant cathedral will perform the rites of the Lutheran church.

Rev. Doehring, a frequent visitor to Doorn, usually preached the sermon at the ex-kaiser's birthday celebrations. He also baptized most of Wilhelm's grandchildren.

The former kaiser's death was attributed to a blood clot entering the lungs. Earlier he had suffered

INDUSTRIALIST OF NOTE IS DEAD

New York, June 5—(AP)—Arthur Curtiss James, whose business was in trains and whose pleasure was in yachts, died last night, one of the nation's wealthiest but least-known industrialists.

Pneumonia won a week-long siege with the 74-year-old railroad builder at Harness Pavilion.

Despite his financial, philanthropic, social and yachting activities, the real titan's quiet unobtrusiveness kept him almost completely out of the public eye, and he was better known as a yachtsman than a capitalist.

James' great wealth—at one time estimated at $350,000,000 in 40,000 miles or about a seventh of the country's total railroad mileage—stemmed from inherited copper, silver and gold mines and rail securities.

He twice sailed around the world in his beautiful square-rigged Aloha, and once ran her from New York to Gibraltar in 16 days, himself at the helm.

James Promises Every Aid to Investigate Charge of "Criminal Conspiracy" In House

Statement Made By Senator Cavalcante in Debate on Bill to Increase Gross Weights of Trucks May Precipitate an Inquiry

BULLETINS

Harrisburg, June 5—(AP)—Democrats in both branches of the general assembly caucused today and came out with a resolution proposing an investigation of assertions made in the senate that a "criminal conspiracy" existed in the legislature to favor bills for "certain groups."

Harrisburg, June 5.—(AP)—The House refused today to agree to Senate changes in a bill to increase the maximum weight limits on motor trucks allowed on Pennsylvania highways—a measure which provoked the Senate's stormiest debate of the session. By this action the House started the bill toward a conference committee to iron out differences over weights that should be permitted.

Harrisburg, June 5—(AP)—Governor James today promised "every aid the attorney general's office can give" to investigate assertions made in the Senate that a "criminal conspiracy" existed in the general assembly to pass legislation favorable to "certain groups."

DISPUTE CLOSES LARGE AVIATION PLANT ON COAST

By the Associated Press

A new CIO strike, enforced as the Defense Mediation Board considered the dispute, closed the big North American Aviation Corporation's airplane plant at Inglewood, Calif., today and caused immediate speculation in Washington whether President Roosevelt might take drastic steps to end stoppages in defense industries.

The walkout at North American was the second rejection in 24 hours of proposals of the Mediation Board.

The company has $196,000,000 worth of contracts for planes for the United States and British governments.

This new walkout was announced only a few hours after the board had been denounced by O. M. Orton, president of 12,000 striking CIO lumber workers in the Pacific northwest. Orton accompanied the denunciation with a flat refusal to abide by the board's public recommendation for settlement.

Orton quit the capital late yesday, issuing a statement accusing the board of "bulldozing" and "strikebreaking."

Imminent threats of strike action in two other essential ingredients of national defense, coal and aluminum, faced the board.

Postponed from yesterday was a board conference with northern and southern soft coal mine operators and the United Mine Workers (CIO). The board has summoned them to hear its recommenda-

MUSMANNO AND CARR

BY TOM REEDY

Harrisburg, June 5—(AP)—David L. Lawrence, Democratic national committeeman, disclosed today party chieftains had slated Judges W. Russell Carr, of Fayette county, and Michael A. Musmanno, of Pittsburgh, as the nominees for two appellate court vacancies to be filled in November.

Judge Carr will run for the state Supreme Court and Judge Musmanno for the Superior Court.

The nominations will be confirmed by the Democratic state committee June 11 in the capital.

Republican leaders have indicated Justice William Parker of the Supreme Court and Judge Charles A. Kenworthey of the Superior court, both appointees of Governor James, would seek re-election for the full term.

G. O. P. State Chairman James F. Torrance said "it is the policy of

LIFE SENTENCE FOR KILLING NEIGHBOR

Uniontown, June 5.—(AP)—Life imprisonment was the sentence imposed on Emory J. Keefer, 28-year-old mountaineer, who pleaded guilty to killing his neighbor, William Busse, last March 21.

Keefer told Judge W. Russell Carr, before receiving sentence yesterday, he had waited in Busse's home and shot his neighbor because he feared for his own life, after having accused Busse of having improper relations with Mrs. Keefer, his wife.

Mrs. Lena Keefer, the defendant's frail mother, testified her son never had seemed "like a grown man" to her but more like a boy. An alienist described Keefer as a "pathological type but legally sane."

Pittsburgh, June 5.—(AP)—Jimmy Colton, 17-year-old infantile paralysis victim, has been confined to an "iron lung" for 20 months, but nevertheless he was graduated from Mars High School yesterday along with his classmates.

James L. Latham, president of the Mars school board, presented the boy with a diploma at Children's Hospital here, where he is a patient. Jimmy was also made happy by a gold engraved football — he once played on the school grid team — and other gifts brought by Mars high letter men.

In the evening the "boiler kid" heard via a two-hour telephone hookup the graduation exercises of his class at Mars in Butler county.

PROVIDES FOR 40,000 AIRPLANES

Measure Appropriating $10,009,655 for War Department Program is Released by Committee With Blunt Notice That Huge Fund is Insufficient; Mounting Costs Given As One of Reasons

BARRAGE BALLOONS INCLUDED IN LIST

Washington, June 5—(AP)—A $10,009,655,187 army supply bill—largest single appropriation since World War days—carrying funds to give the air corps a total of 40,000 planes was sent to the house by its appropriations committee today with a blunt notice that the huge fund was insufficient.

During secret testimony on the measure, made public today, Robert P. Patterson, undersecretary of war, solemnly told the committee while discussing the vastly expanded plane program that:

"We have in the War Department a feeling that there will be a military need of all the planes covered by this program."

The undersecretary did not amplify that statement for the record but said that it was estimated conservatively that Germany's current airplane productive capacity was 3,000 monthly and that the Nazis already have embarked on a program of utilizing the facilities of conquered countries which would increase her plane capacity to between 4,000 and 6,000 monthly.

In recommending $10,000,000,000 outlay to finance the army's greatly expanded activities for the year starting July 1, the committee said it would bring the total of defense appropriations, contract authorizations and recommendations since last July 1 to $30,115,051,142—exclusive of the $7,000,000,000 provided for the lend-lease program and the $6,000,000,000 required to complete the two-ocean navy.

Despite these gigantic outlays, the committee said that barring a slackening of the defense program's tempo, the pending bill would not be adequate for the coming fiscal year because costs already were higher than when the estimates were prepared. The

Washington, June 5—(AP)—Secretary Stimson said today that property seizure powers asked for the president were needed to relieve machine tool bottlenecks, aluminum shortages and German patent controls on vital defense processes, and should not be delayed by any "frivolous objections" in congress.

Washington, June 5—(AP)—Secretary Morgenthau disclosed today the coast guard was turning more than 3,000 of its sailors over to the navy to man new navy transports.

New York, June 5—(AP)—Important meetings of steel men were held here today at which representatives of the industry were expected to discuss the request of office of production management for an increase of 10,000,000 tons in the annual output of steel mills, already working at capacity.

Philadelphia, June 5—(AP)—A sharp increase in use of gas and water in the Philadelphia area because of the demands of defense industries was reported today in announcement of measures designed to conserve or increase the supply of both.

Butler, June 5—(AP)—The American Bantam Car Company announced today that receipt of an $864,141 contract from the war department for reconnaissance trucks has boosted its backlog of orders to an unprecedented figure of approximately $3,000,000.

Berwick, June 5—(AP)—The American Car and Foundry Company, turning out light tanks at the rate of 10 daily, already has delivered 700 of the powerful raiding weapons to the government. President Charles J. Hardy disclosed today.

SUGAR GROVE HI COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES HELD

Sugar Grove, June 5—Nineteen students were presented diplomas by Principal Allan H. Frank at the commencement exercises of the Sugar Grove Joint Vocational School, held Tuesday night in the auditorium.

Principal speaker was S. Miles Bouton, of Jamestown, whose subject was "to Whom Much Is Given." He spoke of the heritage of Americans, comparing our form of living with that in European countries and urged a return to Christian living. Mr. Bouton was introduced by Rodney Engstrom, senior class president.

The program opened with invocation by the Rev. Carl Perrin, pastor of the Presbyterian church Music was provided by a trio composed of Virginia Meyers, pianist; Wilson Meyers and Larry Carlson, violinists. A solo also was played by Mr. Meyers.

Mr. Frank also presented the following special awards: Athletic award, Katherine Sands; dramatics, Helen Abbott; special talent in art work, Calbert Spink; vocational award from home economics department, Marjorie Danielson; honor students, Robert Landin and Marie Norbeck; Reader's Digest award, Robert Landin. The book, "I Dare You," was presented to the two honor students.

The commencement program for the elementary school was held in the auditorium Wednesday evening, with Milton McLallen announcing the program.

The theme, "What Is American Democracy?" was carried out in the following program: "America the Beautiful," the audience; "America's Early History," Geraldine Stroberg; poem, "God Give Us Men," Edythe Vroman; "The Constitution and Bill of Rights," Lawrence Eckstrom; "The Growth of the New Nation," Donald Frank; poem, "I Am An American," Lloyd Briggs; "The Last Twenty Years," Serrill Brown; "What Of Our Future?", Elwood Landin.

Mr. McLallen presented diplomas and Evelyn Hodges sang "God Bless America," with the audience joining in the last chorus to conclude the program. Louise Bruce acted as accompanist for the singing.

FIVE MEN FROM HERE IN ARMY ORDNANCE DEPT.

Ordnance Training Center, Aberdeen Proving Ground, Md., June 5 - After an interest arousing glimpse of this huge cantonment area which will house them and shortly turn them in to the field as members of the U. S. Army Ordnance Department, five selectees from Warren and vicinity are now making themselves at home in the Ordnance Training Center and beginning their interesting course of training in one of the Army's most technical and highly specialized branches.

The Warren county men are Leonard E. Knupp, 619 Prospect street; Arthur J. Loucks, 327 Jackson avenue; F. Carleton Gay, 21 West Fifth avenue; Virgil Collins, 1012 Spring street, and Theron Johnson, of Youngsville.

These men are among the 1747 selectees who arrived here last week from induction centers at New Cumberland, Pa.; Camp Lee, Va. and Fort Meade, Pa. They were met on arrival by battalion officers and their staffs, and assigned to companies in the First and Second Training Battalions, Ordnance Replacement Training Center.

The Ordnance Training Center, commanded by Colonel Julian S. Hatcher, will supply all units of the Army with trained ordnance personnel, men whose duty it will be to supply the combat branches with guns, ammunition and combat vehicles, and to keep their fighting equipment in repair. The training center is divided into three correlated branches:

The men will receive their initial instruction in the Ordnance Replacement Center, commanded by Col. Bethel W. Simpson, where all must undergo the inevitable quarantine and complete the school-of-the-soldier period.

Later, a part of the men will be transferred to the Unit Training Center, Lt. Col. William I. Wilson commanding, when they will be organized into integral ordnance maintenance companies and, after completion of their training, will go into the field as complete units.

The others will be transferred into the Ordnance School to be trained as specialists and instructors in ammunition, small arms, artillery, automotive, depot and supply, and administrative branches of the Ordnance service.

SUGAR GROVE HI COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES HELD

Sugar Grove, June 5—Nineteen students were presented diplomas by Principal Allan H. Frank at the commencement exercises of the Sugar Grove Joint Vocational School, held Tuesday night in the auditorium.

Principal speaker was S. Miles Bouton, of Jamestown, whose subject was "to Whom Much Is Given." He spoke of the heritage of Americans, comparing our form of living with that in European countries and urged a return to Christian living. Mr. Bouton was introduced by Rodney Engstrom, senior class president.

The program opened with invocation by the Rev. Carl Perrin, pastor of the Presbyterian church Music was provided by a trio composed of Virginia Meyers, pianist; Wilson Meyers and Larry Carlson, violinists. A solo also was played by Mr. Meyers.

Mr. Frank also presented the following special awards: Athletic award, Katherine Sands; dramatics, Helen Abbott; special talent in art work, Calbert Spink; vocational award from home economics department, Marjorie Danielson; honor students, Robert Landin and Marie Norbeck; Reader's Digest award, Robert Landin. The book, "I Dare You," was presented to the two honor students.

Officers of the class were Rodney Engstrom, president; Walter Campbell, vice president; Marjorie Danielson, secretary, and Helen Abbott, treasurer.

The commencement program for the elementary school was held in the auditorium Wednesday evening, with Milton McLallen announcing the program.

The theme, "What Is American Democracy?" was carried out in the following program: "America the Beautiful," the audience; "America's Early History," Geraldine Stroberg; poem, "God Give Us Men," Edythe Vroman; "The Constitution and Bill of Rights," Lawrence Eckstrom; "The Growth of the New Nation," Donald Frank; poem, "I Am An American," Lloyd Briggs; "The Last Twenty Years," Serrill Brown; "What Of Our Future?", Elwood Landin.

Mr. McLallen presented diplomas and Evelyn Hodges sang "God Bless America," with the audience joining in the last chorus to conclude the program. Louise Bruce acted as accompanist for the singing.

Local Forester Is Given Transfer to Southern District

William J. Elliott, administrative assistant in the federal forestry office here, has been transferred to Roanoke, Va., and assigned to the Jefferson National Forest, effective June 23.

He left today to vacation in Massachusetts and will return to Warren on June 20 before taking up his new duties. Mr. Elliott has been here nearly five and one-half years, coming from the Jefferson National Forest.

Fellow employes of the local office complimented him with an informal get-together last night in the Vets' Club rooms and presented him a farewell gift.

Succeeding Mr. Elliott in Warren will be John Claman, coming from the Jefferson National Forest on transfer.

The port of New York has 650 miles of waterfront.

FIVE MEN FROM HERE IN ARMY ORDNANCE DEPT.

Ordnance Training Center, Aberdeen Proving Ground, Md., June 5—After an interest arousing glimpse of this huge cantonment area which will house them and shortly turn them in to the field as members of the U. S. Army Ordnance Department, five selectees from Warren and vicinity are now making themselves at home in the Ordnance Training Center and beginning their interesting course of training in one of the Army's most technical and highly specialized branches.

The Warren county men are Leonard E. Knupp, 610 Prospect street; Arthur J. Loucks, 327 Jackson avenue; F. Carleton Gay, 21 West Fifth avenue; Virgil Collins, 1012 Spring street, and Theron Johnson, of Youngsville.

These men are among the 1747 selectees who arrived here last week from induction centers at New Cumberland, Pa.; Camp Lee, Va. and Fort Meade, Pa. They were met on arrival by battalion officers and their staffs, and assigned to companies in the First and Second Training Battalions, Ordnance Replacement Training Center.

The Ordnance Training Center, commanded by Colonel Julian S. Hatcher, will supply all units of the Army with trained ordnance personnel, men whose duty it will be to supply the combat branches with guns, ammunition and combat vehicles, and to keep their fighting equipment in repair. The training center is divided into three correlated branches:

The men will receive their initial instruction in the Ordnance Replacement Center, commanded by Col. Bethel W. Simpson, where all must undergo the inevitable quarantine and complete the school-of-the-soldier period.

Later, a part of the men will be transferred to the Unit Training Center, Lt. Col. William J. Wilson commanding, when they will be organized into integral ordnance maintenance companies and, after completion of their training, will go into the field as complete units.

The others will be transferred into the Ordnance School to be trained as specialists and instructors in ammunition, small arms, artillery, automotive, depot and supply, and administrative branches of the Ordnance service.

COMMENCEMENT

One of the most important events thus far in the lives of 297 young people from Warren and vicinity will take place this evening when they will receive much-coveted diplomas.

Graduation speakers this year cannot paint pictures of a rosy future. They don't know what the future is going to be, and don't like to think much about it. High school seniors are not likely to announce that "beyond the Alps lies Italy." Politically, culturally, spiritually, the world looks pretty dark to intelligent and sensitive students.

There is one advantage for graduates of the Blue and White and others who are finishing their studies this spring which hasn't existed in such generous measure for many years. High school and college graduates can find jobs—plenty of them. Earning a living, right now, will be easier than it has been at any time within the memory of the young people of today. This will be especially true of those who have been foresighted enough to qualify, while in school, for mechanical lines of work. The skills required in modern factories and mills have come into new honor and prosperity since they entered school last fall.

Seldom have classes of students been graduated from the halls of Alma Mater "into the world" by so short a step. This generation of students has been "in the world" all the time. Withdrawal from the sheltering arms of Alma Mater has never been truly possible in times like these. Those Warren young people who go "out into the world" tonight haven't far to go.

There is a certain tendency among men of the present mature generation to apologize because the world in which today's students find themselves is less than a perfect world. In many ways it is a malevolent, a savage world. Some students seem to resent this. Some older men seem apologetic about it.

Yet every generation must make its own world. The classes which were being graduated 20 years ago had not had their school days in a world which was exactly all beer and skittles, either.

They made a brave effort to do something about it. Perhaps it is too broad to say that they largely failed. Certainly they did not make a permanent success. They tried, which is all a person, or a generation, can do.

Willis Thornton, in an editorial written for NEA Service and the Times-Mirror, recalls a youth in that other war, a young man who didn't relish going into it. In fact, he had been a pacifist. But he went to the war anyway, and he did very well. His name was Alvin York, now an author and lecturer who spoke not many years ago from the same platform in the Presbyterian church where tonight's eventful program will take place. At the grave of the Unknown Soldier at Arlington the other day he said a significant thing: "'What did it get you?' they ask. It got me 23 years of living in America . . . we fought that last war to make America safe for democracy, and we did, for a while. . . . By our victory we won a lease on liberty, not a deed to it. . . . Now Adolf Hitler tells me that lease is expiring. . . . I choose to renew it."

"Let's look at it that way. The men of 1917-18 failed to get a perpetual deed on the old place and there are leaks in the roof, and other badly needed repairs and alterations. But they didn't get evicted and lose the house. They did get a lease, with privilege of renewal.

"It is up to the new generation if it wants to continue to live in the old house (the best house in the world) or still believes to renew the lease. Any alterations and repairs you graduates may want to make are up to you. Every generation has remodeled the place considerably, and it has become a better house every time.

"What did graduates expect anybody to do on becoming fully participating tenants in the national house? A paid-up deed in perpetuity and plans all ready for cosmopolitous alterations?

"We welcome this year's graduates to the world." They have their job before them, the roof to fix, the new wing to build, old and tottering partitions to tear down. They may even have to renew the lease at the same time the rent has been paid for it before.

"But it's a grand old house, built on a fine foundation, solid, roomy, and comfortable. We've seen enough of the young people who are now becoming full-fledged tenants to feel sure they will leave it a bigger and finer house than they find it today."

T-H-O-U-G-H-T-S

Whatsoever is commanded by the God of heaven, let it be diligently done for the house of the God of heaven.—Ezra 7:23.

The fear of some divine and supreme power keeps men in obedience.—Burton.

Are Ya Listenin'?

Man About Manhattan

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—This water-girt island, with its castles and codes and various layers of social strata also has an aristocracy of sparrows. It is a matter of record that most of the millions of sparrows that today inhabit the parks, trees, streets, sheds and eaves of Manhattan are descendants of an original group of 14 that were imported from England and released in Central Park in 1863. Unfortunately, no one remembers the name of the ship that brought these first "settlers." And so the sparrows can't say to the pigeons, as the New Englanders do, "Not that it especially matters, dear, but our ancestors came over on the Mayflower."

IT ISN'T generally remembered that Caruso was a fine artist in addition to being the world's greatest tenor and also was the spark that ignited the inspiration for two dozen Caruso spaghetti restaurants about town.

But Caruso was very much of an artist and he loved nothing better than turning out expert caricatures of his friends and of those who weren't his friends. Xavier Cugat, who is musician and artist, too, went on a tour of the country with Caruso and on that tour they had great sport sketching caricatures of the people they met.

H. ALLEN SMITH is a reporter on the staff of the New York World-Telegram. He is also the author of a wise-cracking book called "Low Man on a Totem Pole." Recently he spent the better part of a week in Washington on business and returned in an American Airlines plane, dead tired.

"I hurt," he said upon leaving the plane.

"Eh?" cried the cabby.

"I hurt," explained Smith. "I'm so tired I hurt." Whereupon he fell into a cab and went sound asleep.

"I wonder which is his bag?" muttered the cabby.

"That one over there—the one made out of alligator hide," spoke up a man who had come down on the plane with Smith.

"Okay," said the cabby; he picked up the bag and tossed it into the cab. He also tossed in a briefcase, also of alligator hide. Then he drove off to Smith's address in Jackson Heights.

Several hours later, like the dutiful wife she is, Mrs. Smith was unpacking her husband's luggage. When she saw the briefcase she couldn't place it. She didn't even know he had a briefcase. When she opened it a stack of important, official looking papers fell out. Mrs. Smith hurried to the telephone and called the airport.

"Madam," she was told. "That briefcase belongs to a Rhode Island senator. We held the plane 20 minutes looking for it. It was being shipped air express. We'll be right out to get it."

Which, in the event that the Smiths' neighbors are curious, is why, with sirens screaming, motorcycle couriers roared up to the Smith house last Sunday afternoon.

• STORIES IN STAMPS

Little Liechtenstein Still Retains 'Independence'

SURROUNDED by the Nazi influence, the tiny principality of Liechtenstein has been able to retain, officially at least, her independence.

The scene of homage, depicted on the stamp above, has not been re-enacted in the modern, more sinister drama in which so many other nations have played a part. The stamp was issued in 1939 in commemoration of the coronation of Franz Joseph II, who became Liechtenstein's first prince-ruler in 1718.

At that time, the principality formed part of the Holy Roman Empire. It became part of the Rhine Confederation in 1806, and from 1815 to 1866 it was a member of the German Confederation.

Although most of its people are German, the tiny state was closely tied up with Austria until 1919. In 1921 it adopted Swiss currency and later Switzerland assumed administration of Liechtenstein's customs and postal system, although the principality still issues its own stamps.

Misquotations

When a person gets flustered, he is liable to mix his metaphors or misquote a quotation, with amusing results.

In the following slightly mixed familiar phrases there are one or more words that don't belong there. See if you can spot them and replace them with the correct words to make the quotations read right, and give their sources.

1. In the fall a young man's fancy darkly turns to thoughts of school.
2. Too many cooks spill the broth.
3. Well done, thou fine and faithful friend.
4. Out of the saucepan into the dish.
5. What's in a name? That which we call a rhododendron by any other name would sound as sweet.

A Washington Daybook

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON—Trying to find an "average trainee" visiting Washington on week-end leave seems like trying to find a common denominator for the Eskimos, Hottentots and Boston Back Bay society. I never tried the latter, but I did try for an "average trainee."

I'm going to state three generalities as a result of my survey, and for anybody who might raise the question, I admit that it hardly can be called "scientific sampling." After all, it's a one-man staff that turns out this column and even if I worked three eight-hour shifts a day for a dozen week-ends I could hardly make an appreciable inroad on interviewing the thousands of lads in khaki who pour into this town from nearby training camps.

The generalities:

(1) Visiting draftees like to do just about the same things other sightseers and weekend vacationists do.

(2) They do not go in for a lot of shocking devilment. Even if they feel like that, it costs too much money.

(3) An amazingly few of them have dates. The reasons are that they can't afford it, don't know any girls, or have sweethearts back home and just simply aren't interested.

I might add that the "average trainee" has about five bucks to spend for a weekend jaunt, which, if he's just a private, is a week's pay.

Case Of A Man With $5.20

THERE was Pvt. James Martin of Fort Meade. He arrived in town with $5.20 and four other fellows. They spent $1.25 apiece for rooms for the night (four of them slept on cots). They had one good meal, with some "fancy junk we don't get at camp"—cost $1.10. They averaged seven beers, 70 cents. The rest of it was spent on taxis, other transportation, hamburgers, cokes, and postcards for the family or girl friend. If one fellow went over, he borrowed a quarter or a half from one of his more affluent buddies.

Now what did they do for entertainment? They saw the Washington monument, the Lincoln Memorial, the Smithsonian museum, the Zoo, and a sandlot baseball game in one of the parks just off the Mall. Three of them went to a movie to see a picture ("Lady Eve") that they had heard was funny but which hadn't yet played the camp. They caught it at a neighborhood house at 25-cent time. At the Zoo, they met and talked to two "swell gals" who went sightseeing with them for half an hour and promised to get on the camp's dance-date list as soon as possible. One of the "swell gals" is a junior at Georgetown University — the other is a government stenographer.

From here on, the trainee weekenders seem to go up or down financially. Some spend a day and as little as $1.50 seeing Washington. Others have dates ($10 to $15 weekends, the boys tell me) and go dancing and driving.

About half of the visiting draftees I have seen carry cameras and snap everything from a giggling lass in the amusement park to the orang-outang in the Zoo who has clowned his way to fame by eating most of his meals with a banana peeling for a hat . . . a hat that slides off frequently, but which he always solemnly replaces before he continues eating.

Are Well Behaved

OF COURSE, there are boys who get into trouble, but the percentages—in Washington, at least—are minute. A half dozen hard-bitten policemen who patrol the most unsavory sections of the city have told me the soldier boys are the best behaved generally of all they have to deal with.

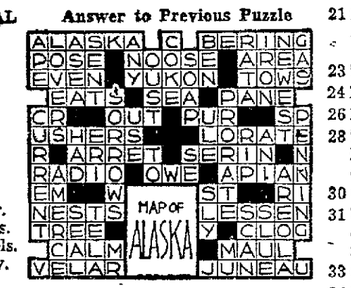

Several of the lads I have talked with have told me their greatest regret is that they always miss "the big show"—Congress in session. Congress rarely works on weekends—but if the complaints continue I'm going to petition the House and Senate to hold special Saturday night sessions, with all the trimmings — "for trainees only."

COMMENCEMENT

One of the most important events thus far in the lives of 297 young people from Warren and vicinity will take place this evening when they will receive much-coveted diplomas.

Graduation speakers this year cannot paint pictures of a rosy future. They don't know what the future is going to be, and don't like to think much about it. High school seniors are not likely to announce that "beyond the Alps lies Italy." Politically, culturally, spiritually, the world looks pretty dark to intelligent and sensitive students.

There is one advantage for graduates of the Blue and White and others who are finishing their studies this spring which hasn't existed in such generous measure for many years. High school and college graduates can find jobs—plenty of them. Earning a living, right now, will be easier than it has been at any time within the memory of the young people of today. This will be especially true of those who have been foresighted enough to qualify, while in school, for mechanical lines of work. The skills required in modern factories and mills have come into new honor and prosperity since they entered school last fall.

Seldom have classes of students been graduated from the halls of Alma Mater "into the world" by so short a step. This generation of students has been "in the world" all the time. Withdrawal from the sheltering arms of Alma Mater has never been truly possible in times like these. Those Warren young people who go "out into the world" tonight haven't far to go.

There is a certain tendency among men of the present mature generation to apologize because the world in which today's students find themselves is less than a perfect world. In many ways it is a malevolent, a savage world. Some students seem to resent this. Some older men seem apologetic about it.

Yet every generation must make its own world. The classes which were being graduated 20 years ago had not had their school days in a world which was exactly all beer and skittles, either.

They made a brave effort to do something about it. Perhaps it is too broad to say that they largely failed. Certainly they did not make a permanent success. They tried, which is all a person, or a generation, can do.

Willis Thornton, in an editorial written for NEA Service and the Times-Mirror, recalls a youth in that other war, a young man who didn't relish going into it. In fact, he had been a pacifist. But he went to the war anyway, and he did very well. His name was Alvin York, now an author and lecturer who spoke not many years ago from the same platform in the Presbyterian church where tonight's eventful program will take place. At the grave of the Unknown Soldier at Arlington the other day he said a significant thing: "'What did it get you?' they ask. It got me 23 years of living in America . . . we fought that last war to make America safe for democracy, and we did, for a while. . . . By our victory we won a lease on liberty, not a deed to it. . . . Now Adolf Hitler tells me that lease is expiring. . . . I choose to renew it."

"Let's look at it that way. The men of 1917-18 failed to get a perpetual deed on the old place, and there are leaks in the roof, and other badly needed repairs and alterations. But they didn't get evicted and lose the house; they did get a lease, with privilege of renwal.

"It is up to the new generation, if it wants to continue to live in the old house (the best house in the world, we still believe) to renew the lease. Any alterations and repairs you graduates may want to make are up to you. Every generation has remodeled the place considerably, and it's become a better house every time.

"What did graduates expect, anyway, on becoming fully participating tenants in the national house? A paid-up deed in perpetuity and plans all ready for commodious alterations?

"We welcome this year's graduates to "the world." They have their job before them—the roof to fix, the new wing to build, old and tottering partitions to tear down. They may even have to renew the lease at the same high price that has been paid for it before.

"But it's a grand old house, built on a firm foundation, solid, roomy, and comfortable. We've seen just enough of the young people who are now becoming full-fledged tenants to feel sure they will leave it a bigger and finer house than they find it today."

Man About Manhattan

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—This water-girt island, with its castles and codes and various layers of social strata also has an aristocracy of sparrows. It is a matter of record that most of the millions of sparrows that today inhabit the parks, trees, streets, sheds and eaves of Manhattan are descendants of an original group of 14 that were imported from England and released in Central Park in 1863. Unfortunately, no one remembers the name of the ship that brought these first "settlers." And so the sparrows can't say to the pigeons, as the New Englanders do, "Not that it especially matters, dear, but our ancestors came over on the Mayflower."

IT ISN'T generally remembered that Caruso was a fine artist in addition to being the world's greatest tenor and also was the spark that ignited the inspiration for two dozen Caruso spaghetti restaurants about town.

But Caruso was very much of an artist and he loved nothing better than turning out expert caricatures of his friends and of those who weren't his friends. Xavier Cugat, who is musician and artist, too, went on a tour of the country with Caruso and on that tour they had great sport sketching caricatures of the people they met.

H. ALLEN SMITH is a reporter on the staff of the New York World-Telegram. He is also the author of a wise-cracking book called "Low Man on a Totem Pole." Recently he spent the better part of a week in Washington on business and returned in an American Airlines plane, dead tired.

"I hurt," he said upon leaving the plane.

"Eh?" cried the cabby.

"I hurt," explained Smith. "I'm so tired I hurt." Whereupon he fell into a cab and went sound asleep.

"I wonder which is his bag?" muttered the cabby.

"That one over there—the one made out of alligator hide," spoke up a man who had come down on the plane with Smith.

"Okay," said the cabby; he picked up the bag and tossed it into the cab. He also tossed in a briefcase, also of alligator hide. Then he drove off to Smith's address in Jackson Heights.

Several hours later, like the dutiful wife she is, Mrs. Smith was unpacking her husband's luggage. When she saw the briefcase she couldn't place it. She didn't even know he had a briefcase. When she opened it a stack of important, official looking papers fell out. Mrs. Smith hurried to the telephone and called the airport.

"Madam," she was told. "That briefcase belongs to a Rhode Island senator. We held the plane 20 minutes looking for it. It was being shipped air express. We'll be right out to get it."

Which, in the event that the Smiths' neighbors are curious, is why, with sirens screaming, motorcycle couriers roared up to the Smith house last Sunday afternoon.

• STORIES IN STAMPS

Little Liechtenstein Still Retains 'Independence'

SURROUNDED by the Nazi influence, the tiny principality of Liechtenstein has been able to retain, officially at least, her independence.

The scene of homage, depicted on the stamp above, has not been re-enacted in the modern, more sinister drama in which so many other nations have played a part. The stamp was issued in 1939 in commemoration of the coronation of Franz Joseph II, who became Liechtenstein's first prince-ruler in 1718.

At that time, the principality formed part of the Holy Roman Empire. It became part of the Rhine Confederation in 1806, and from 1815 to 1866 it was a member of the German Confederation.

Although most of its people are German, the tiny state was closely tied up with Austria until 1919. In 1921 it adopted Swiss currency and later Switzerland assumed administration of Liechtenstein's customs and postal system, although the principality still issues its own stamps.

Misquotations

In the following slightly mixed familiar phrases there are one or more words that don't belong there. See if you can spot them and replace them with the correct words to make the quotations read right, and give their sources.

1. In the fall a young man's fancy darkly turns to thoughts of school.
2. Too many cooks spill the broth.
3. Well done, thou fine and faithful friend.
4. Out of the saucepan into the dish.
5. What's in a name? That which we call a rhododendron by any other name would sound as sweet.

America's Finer Tea

A Washington Daybook

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON—Trying to find an "average trainee" visiting Washington on week-end leave seems like trying to find a common denominator for the Eskimos, Hottentots and Boston Back Bay society. I never tried the latter, but I did try for an "average trainee."

I'm going to state three generalities as a result of my survey, and for anybody who might raise the question, I admit that it hardly can be called "scientific sampling." After all, it's a one-man staff that turns out this column and even if I worked three eight-hour shifts a day for a dozen week-ends I could hardly make an appreciable inroad on interviewing the thousands of lads in khaki who pour into this town from nearby training camps.

The generalities:

(1) Visiting draftees like to do just about the same things other sightseers and weekend vacationists do.

(2) They do not go in for a lot of shocking devilment. Even if they feel like that, it costs too much money.

(3) An amazingly few of them have dates. The reasons are that they can't afford it, don't know any girls, or have sweethearts back home and just simply aren't interested.

I might add that the "average trainee" has about five bucks to spend for a weekend jaunt, which, if he's just a private, is a week's pay.

Case Of A Man With $5.20

THERE was Pvt. James Martin of Fort Meade. He arrived in town with $5.20 and four other fellows. They spent $1.25 apiece for rooms for the night (four of them slept on cots). They had one good meal, with some "fancy junk we don't get at camp"—cost $1.10. They averaged seven beers, 70 cents. The rest of it was spent on taxis, other transportation, hamburgers, cokes, and postcards for the family or girl friend. If one fellow went over, he borrowed a quarter or a half from one of his more affluent buddies.

Now what did they do for entertainment? They saw the Washington monument, the Lincoln Memorial, the Smithsonian museum, the Zoo, and a sandlot baseball game in one of the parks just off the Mall. Three of them went to a movie to see a picture ("Lady Eve") that they had heard was funny but which hadn't yet played the camp. They caught it at a neighborhood house at 25-cent time. At the Zoo, they met and talked to two "swell gals" who went sightseeing with them for half an hour and promised to get on the camp's dance-date list as soon as possible. One of the "swell gals" is a junior at Georgetown University — the other is a government stenographer.

From here on, the trainee weekenders seem to go up or down financially. Some spend a day and as little as $1.50 seeing Washington. Others have dates ($10 to $15 weekends, the boys tell me) and go dancing and driving.

About half of the visiting draftees I have seen carry cameras and snap everything from a giggling lass in the amusement park to the orang-outang in the Zoo who has clowned his way to fame by eating most of his meals with a banana peeling for a hat . . . a hat that slides off frequently, but which he always solemnly replaces before he continues eating.

OF COURSE, there are boys who get into trouble, but the percentages—in Washington, at least—are minute. A half dozen hard-bitten policemen who patrol the most unsavory sections of the city have told me the soldier boys are the best behaved generally of all they have to deal with.

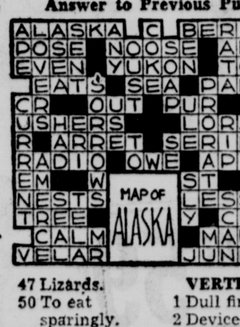

Several of the lads I have talked with have told me their greatest regret is that they always miss "the big show"—Congress in session. Congress rarely works on weekends—but if the complaints continue I'm going to petition the House and Senate to hold special Saturday night sessions, with all the trimmings — "for trainees only."

AMATEUR RADIO OPERATORS TO HOLD FIELD DAY

On Saturday and Sunday the radio amateur operators will hold their ninth annual field day. About 50,000 operators will take part in this activity. In every state in the union portable stations will be set up and operated in the most part from portable gas driven generators or batteries.

The Warren County Radio Club will set up three portable stations which will be self powered by gas driven generators. Two of the stations will be radiotelegraph and the other will be radiotelephone. These stations will be operated by nine of the local amateur operators.

The purpose of these field days is to test the facilities of the radio amateurs available in case of an emergency either local or national in scope.

SLIMMING DAY OR EVENING MODE

Pattern 4783
By Anne Adams

Here's a "fashion first" style for the larger woman—a frock that will give you real stand-out-from-the-crowd distinction. For Anne Adams has designed Pattern 4783 with such fresh and imaginative style and detail that it both builds up your personality and slims down your proportions The newest feature of all is the curved seaming at each side-front of the skirt—you'll be delighted by the way it slenderizes your hips. The bodice is becoming too, with a charming sweetheart neckline and softly cut lines that are held in at the shoulders by decorative shirring. Your sleeves are short and simple or in a fancier, gathered three-quarter style. You'll want this attractive dress in both street and dinner-length versions.

Pattern 4783 is available in women's sizes 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, 48 and 50. Size 36, street-length dress, takes 3 5-8 yards 39 inch fabric.

Send FIFTEEN CENTS (15c) in coins for this Anne Adams pattern. Write plainly SIZE, NAME, ADDRESS and STYLE NUMBER.

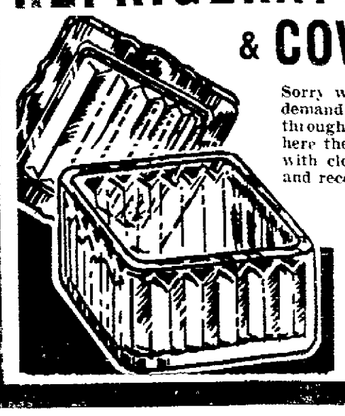

This summer, plan to have a complete, attractive wardrobe—with the Anne Adams Pattern Book for your sewing guide! All the smart, original designs in this book are promptly available in simple, accurate patterns. There are styles for every age and activity with feminine sheers and prints, "tomboy" playclothes, beach modes travel wear, soap 'n' water cottons, new accessories. SLIMMING DAY OR EVENING MODE

Pattern 4783
By Anne Adams

Here's a "fashion first" style for the larger woman—a frock that will give you real stand-out-from-the-crowd distinction. For Anne Adams has designed Pattern 4783 with such fresh and imaginative style and detail that it both builds up your personality and slims down your proportions. The newest feature of all is the curved seaming at each side-front of the skirt—you'll be delighted by the way it slenderizes your hips. The bodice is becoming too, with a charming sweetheart neckline and softly cut lines that are held in at the shoulders by decorative shirring. Your sleeves are short and simple or in a fancier, gathered three-quarter style. You'll want this attractive dress in both street and dinner-length versions.

Pattern 4783 is available in women's sizes 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, 48 and 50. Size 36, street-length dress, takes 3 5-8 yards 39 inch fabric.

Mrs. McCloskey Is Again President of Community Council

Mrs. Guy McCloskey was reelected president of the Community Council P. T. A. at the annual election of officers on Wednesday afternoon at the Y. W. C. A. activities building.

Mrs. Louis Hendrickson presented the report of the nominating committee, with these others completing the slate: Mrs. F. H. Hetrick and Mrs. Stephen Saylor, vice presidents; Mrs. Virgil King, secretary; Mrs. A. F. Dunham, treasurer. Mrs. R. E. Sires and Mrs. Marshall Johnsen were appointed as an auditing committee.

Mrs. Fred Schuler, who will be general chairman for the presentation of Clare Tree Major plays next season, announced again the selections made by the committee and urged members to report these to their various teachers.

Mrs. McCloskey paid recognition to the fine work done by Mrs. Alan Templeton in heading this project since its inception in Warren. A gift is to be given her in appreciation of her work, but she was unable to be present yesterday to receive it.

The group voted to purchase a gift for the parents' shelf at the Warren Public Library and heard with much interest a talk on that subject by Mrs. Howard Huff, of the library staff.

Home Economics

IRVINE CLUB

The Irvine 4-H Club held its first meeting at the home of Mrs. Louise Colter and made plans for the next session on Wednesday evening, June 18. Mrs. Thelma Prendergast discussed room improvement, which the club is adopting as its project.

VALLEY ECHO CLUB

The Valley Echo 4-H Club of Chandlers Valley held its regular meeting last week with the leader, Mrs. Thelma Prendergast, and 15 members present. The club discussed the program to be selected for summer work and decided on clothing projects. One member, Mary York, has had four years of sewing and will work on a room improvement project.

GROUP MEETING

County agents and home economics representatives from eleven counties in northwestern Pennsylvania attended the meeting held here at the court house to make plans for the 4-H outing at Camp Cornplanter, to be held the week beginning July 26. Home economics unit members will attend camp from Sunday until Wednesday and agricultural clubs will enter camp on Wednesday for the remainder of the week.

CLARENDON TROUBADOURS

Clarendon 4-H Troubadours held its recent morning meeting at the home of the leader, Mrs. Rowley, with members assigned the various tasks of preparing breakfast, setting the table and washing the dishes. A business meeting followed, also a work period in which Mrs. Thelma Prendergast assisted the girls in laying out patterns and cutting their first garments. Eleven girls were present. The club meets again June 12 at 9:30 a. m. at the home of Mary Fiscus, with a wiener roast planned at noon.

Social Events

ROBERT LAFFERTY HAS BIRTHDAY PARTY

Robert Lafferty, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Lafferty, 9 Buchanan street, entertained a group of young friends at his home Wednesday afternoon from 3:30 to 5:30 o'clock with a most enjoyable birthday party.

The young host was showered with reminders of the occasion and the children spent a happy time with games and movies. The birthday table was appointed in pastel shades and a birthday cake representing a wagon drawn by horses formed its center.

UNITED BRETHREN MISSIONARY SOCIETY

The Woman's Missionary Society of the United Brethren church will meet Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the church. The topic, "Widening Horizons in China," will be led by Mrs. Lyle Schearer. Reports from the 62nd annual missionary convention, held in May in Jamestown, N. Y., will be given at this time. A social hour will follow, with Mrs. Charles Lawson and her committee in charge of refreshments.

YOUNGSVILLE GIRL IS TO BE BRIDE

Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Olds, of Youngsville, announce the engagement and coming marriage of their daughter, Mary Geraldine to Joseph V. Passaro, of Connellsville. No wedding date has been told.

Girls of the New Process Company shipping department honored Miss Olds last evening with a charming party in the Geracimos private dining room. Luncheon was served and the honored guest was showered with gifts.

FAREWELL PARTY

Ladies of the Miller Shop entertained last night at a farewell dinner party at the McCabe Restaurant in honor of Mrs. Marie Maitland, Conewango avenue, who leaves Saturday for Coatesville to spend the summer with her daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Bryan. Mrs. Maitland was presented with a lovely gift. Another daughter, Miss Martha Maitland, will accompany her to Coatesville.

TREATED AT HOSPITAL

James T. Alderdice, 43, of 136 Twelfth street, Homestead, was treated at the Warren General Hospital for minor bruises received in an automobile accident this morning near the Wildwood Inn on Route 62. He was discharged after treatment.

MOTHER KILLED

Mrs. Margaret Rose, 35, of R. D. 1, North Girard, was killed and her six-year-old son, Donald, was injured in a collision of two trucks near North Girard yesterday morning. Dr. W. G. Stroble, Erie county coroner, said a truck skidded into the truck operated by Mrs. Rose. According to an Associated Press dispatch, her husband is employed by the Pennsylvania Railroad at Irvine.

HURT IN ACCIDENT

Miss Elsa Ryden, 26, a nurse at Hamot Hospital in Erie, received a possible fracture of a vertebra about 11:30 o'clock last night in an auto accident which occurred just west of the borough on U. S. Route 6. According to Private N. B. Johns, of the state motor police, Miss Ryden was a passenger in a car driven by B. Virginia Bryner, also a Hamot nurse, which was proceeding west. The car is said to have skidded on the slippery pavement on the curve, just outside the borough, and crashed into a pole. The machine was damaged to the extent of about $500. Miss Ryden was brought to the Warren General Hospital and later was removed to Hamot Hospital in Erie.

highways. He said he would take his charges to Attorney General Claude T. Reno "when the time comes."

"I don't know of anything more important for the Senate of Pennsylvania," the governor told his press conference, "than to air every one of these charges and go to the bottom of the whole affair.

"Any aid that the attorney general's office can give will be gladly given."

EXECUTIVE CRITICIZED

Harrisburg, June 5.—(AP)—Meredith Meyers, Democratic state chairman, said today that Governor James "is trapped in a maze of self-contradiction" and should "make a full and frank statement of the reasons, if any, leading him to take his present stand" in the budget deadlock with the Democratic leadership in the legislature.

His declarations provoked a reply from Senator Leo C. Mundy (D-Luzerne) demanding that the Fayette senator "name names," and Cavalcante singled out Charles J. Melchiorre, Democratic representative from Philadelphia.

The argument arose over a bill to increase the maximum gross weights of trucks on Pennsylvania highways. The bill passed the Senate, 39 to 9 and was sent back to the House for concurrence in amendments.

The controversy over the "big truck" bill enlivened a session in which the House and Senate continued in a deadlock over budget matters.

Governor James, meanwhile, said he found from an examination of the $542,000,000 budget for the next two years that the Democratic House "forgot" to include items totalling $15,800,000.

At the same time, the governor observed that "maybe it would be a good idea for the legislature to continue in session" to deal with any national emergency because congress has remained in session.

Mrs. McCloskey Is Again President of Community Council

Mrs. Guy McCloskey was reelected president of the Community Council P. T. A. at the annual election of officers on Wednesday afternoon at the Y. W. C. A. activities building.

Mrs. Louis Hendrickson presented the report of the nominating committee, with these others completing the slate: Mrs. F. H. Hetrick and Mrs. Stephen Saylor, vice presidents; Mrs. Virgil King, secretary; Mrs. A. F. Dunham, treasurer. Mrs. R. E. Sires and Mrs. Marshall Johnsen were appointed as an auditing committee.

Mrs. Fred Schuler, who will be general chairman for the presentation of Clare Tree Major plays next season, announced again the selections made by the committee and urged members to report these to their various teachers.

Mrs. McCloskey paid recognition to the fine work done by Mrs. Alan Templeton in heading this project since its inception in Warren. A gift is to be given her in appreciation of her work, but she was unable to be present yesterday to receive it.

The group voted to purchase a gift for the parents' shelf at the Warren Public Library and heard with much interest a talk on that subject by Mrs. Howard Huff, of the library staff.

IRVINE CLUB

The Irvine 4-H Club held its first meeting at the home of Mrs. Louise Colter and made plans for the next session on Wednesday evening, June 18. Mrs. Thelma Prendergast discussed room improvement, which the club is adopting as its project.

VALLEY ECHO CLUB

The Valley Echo 4-H Club of Chandlers Valley held its regular meeting last week with the leader, Mrs. Thelma Prendergast, and 15 members present. The club discussed the program to be selected for summer work and decided on clothing projects. One member, Mary York, has had four years of sewing and will work on a room improvement project.

GROUP MEETING

County agents and home economics representatives from eleven counties in northwestern Pennsylvania attended the meeting held here at the court house to make plans for the 4-H outing at Camp Cornplanter, to be held the week beginning July 26. Home economics unit members will attend camp from Sunday until Wednesday and agricultural clubs will enter camp on Wednesday for the remainder of the week.

CLARENDON TROUBADOURS

Clarendon 4-H Troubadours held its recent morning meeting at the home of the leader, Mrs. Rowley, with members assigned the various tasks of preparing breakfast, setting the table and washing the dishes. A business meeting followed, also a work period in which Mrs. Thelma Prendergast assisted the girls in laying out patterns and cutting their first garments. Eleven girls were present. The club meets again June 12 at 9:30 a. m. at the home of Mary Fiscus, with a wiener roast planned at noon.

MOTHER KILLED

Mrs. Margaret Rose, 35, of R. D. 1, North Girard, was killed and her six-year-old son, Donald, was injured in a collision of two trucks near North Girard yesterday morning. Dr. W. G. Stroble, Erie county coroner, said a truck skidded into the truck operated by Mrs. Rose. According to an Associated Press dispatch, her husband is employed by the Pennsylvania Railroad at Irvine.

HURT IN ACCIDENT

Miss Elsa Ryden, 26, a nurse at Hamot Hospital in Erie, received a possible fracture of a vertebra about 11:30 o'clock last night in an auto accident which occurred just west of the borough on U. S. Route 6. According to Private N. B. Johns, of the state motor police, Miss Ryden was a passenger in a car driven by B. Virginia Bryner, also a Hamot nurse, which was proceeding west. The car is said to have skidded on the slippery pavement on the curve, just outside the borough, and crashed into a pole. The machine was damaged to the extent of about $500. Miss Ryden was brought to the Warren General Hospital and later was removed to Hamot Hospital in Erie.

highways. He said he would take his charges to Attorney General Claude T. Reno "when the time comes."

"I don't know of anything more important for the Senate of Pennsylvania," the governor told his press conference, "than to air every one of these charges and go to the bottom of the whole affair.

"Any aid that the attorney general's office can give will be gladly given."

EXECUTIVE CRITICIZED

Harrisburg, June 5.—(AP)—Meredith Meyers, Democratic state chairman, said today that Governor James "is trapped in a maze of self-contradiction" and should "make a full and frank statement of the reasons, if any, leading him to take his present stand" in the budget deadlock with the Democratic leadership in the legislature.

His declarations provoked a reply from Senator Leo C. Mundy (D-Luzerne) demanding that the Fayette senator "name names," and Cavalcante singled out Charles J. Melchiorre, Democratic representative from Philadelphia.

The argument arose over a bill to increase the maximum gross weights of trucks on Pennsylvania highways. The bill passed the Senate, 39 to 9 and was sent back to the House for concurrence in amendments.

The controversy over the "big truck" bill enlivened a session in which the House and Senate continued in a deadlock over budget matters.

Governor James, meanwhile, said he found from an examination of the $542,000,000 budget for the next two years that the Democratic House "forgot" to include items totalling $15,800,000.

At the same time, the governor observed that "maybe it would be a good idea for the legislature to continue in session" to deal with any national emergency because congress has remained in session.

HILL-TOPPERS MEET

The Irvinedale Hill-Toppers 4-H Club held its regular meeting at the home of Sue Mathis, Fifth street extension, with the opening pledge, routine and motion song. Mrs. Thelma Prendergast, home economics teacher, showed pictures of other clubs' accomplishments. The girls planned to bring pattern and material for wearing apparel to the next meeting, which will be held on Thursday, June 12, starting at one o'clock at the home of Elaine Daley, Cobham Park Road.

STARBRICK MEETING

The first meeting of the Starbrick 4-H Club was held at the home of Helen Hicks. The meeting was called by the president, Lois McCain, with six members, Home Economics Representative Thelma Prendergast and Mrs. Hicks, local leader, in attendance. Mrs. Prendergast showed garments made by other groups and talked about materials and finishes. She spoke about Camp Cornplanter, also about hiking and the picnic to be held for all girls of the county on June 21 at Hearts Content. This will be held instead of the candlelighting services. The meeting was adjourned after a games period.

Great Demand Shown For Conservatory's Concert Admissions

The gratifying demand for tickets for the Warren Conservatory concert on June 7 at the Philomel Club will leave only a small number to be sold at the door, it is learned today.

Besides the out of town pianist, Virginia Marks Reed, of Erie, F. Arthur Johnson, cellist, and his accompanist, Robert Benscoter, of Kane, the public will hear several local singers whose work has attracted attention in the past months.

Violet Anderson Borg's fine contralto voice will be heard in Handel's "Largo," the "Habanera" from Bizet's "Carmen" and Ecstacy" by Rummell. Constance Dey, whose voice has developed into a soprano of arresting beauty, will sing the aria "Ah fors e lui" from Verdi's "Traviata." Agnes Kathleen Monroe will be heard in the lovely "Lo Here the Gentle Lark" by Bishop, for which her voice is particularly well suited, and with the added feature of flute obligato by Dorothy Bosin.

Roger Webster will sing the rarely heard "Serenade of Mefistofeles" from Berlioz' "Damnation of Faust," made memorable by the great Chaliapin.

Edith Haines Kuester, whose gifts as an accompanist have been widely recognized, will, in conjunction with Adelaide Swanson, play Schumann's "Andante and Variations for Two Pianos."

The ever popular quartet from "Rigoletto," with Clayton Sanden, Ruth Satterlund, Miss Monroe and Mr. Webster, will bring an exceptionally artistic program to a close.

After the concert, members of the faculty will greet friends of the Conservatory in the Philomel Club parlors.

Catholic Daughters Plan Installation Ceremony - Reception

Court Warren, Catholic Daughters of America, is making plans for its annual installation ceremonies and reception of visiting officials and has set the date for June 18.

The gathering will be held at the Philomel Club, beginning with a 6:30 o'clock dinner and followed by the welcome to Miss Anna B. Fleming, district deputy, of Kane. Miss Frances Maher, of Kane, who was recently reelected grand regent of the Pennsylvania Catholic Daughters, is expected, also.

Miss Felicia Lucia and Mrs. Josephine Slatry are co-chairmen of the committee on arrangements and are calling an important meeting of committee members for 7:45 o'clock next Tuesday evening at the Philomel Club.

Their aides for this function are Mrs. Emma Curren, Mrs. Constance Critelli, Mrs. Harriet Fleckenstein, Mrs. Mabel Horn, Mrs. Ruth Hesch, Mrs. Bertha Kamen, Mrs. Mary Agnes Lindberg, Mrs. Marie McGarry, Mrs. Edith McCauley, Mrs. Vera Nesmith, Mrs. Victoria Santoro, Mrs. Rose Smith, Mrs. Marguerite Taylor and the Misses Ann Dervin, Mary Blocher, Betty Hogan, Mary Mahood, Elma Schwartz and Henrietta Wehner.

Gloria Vrenna And Louis Barone Wed

Announcement is made today that Gloria Vrenna, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Vrenna, of North Warren, became the bride of Louis Barone at nine o'clock Saturday morning in St. Joseph's church, Father Edward Jacobs celebrating the nuptial mass and performing the marriage service.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was lovely in white chiffon and lace gown and a veil held by a coronet of seed pearls. Her flowers were yellow rosebuds and forget me nots. Mrs. James Jarvis, her cousin, was matron of honor and wore aqua chiffon. Her bouquet was of pink rosebuds and baby's breath. Betty Lou Williams was flower girl for her cousin. She wore pink organdy and carried sweet peas and forget me nots.

Louis Lucia was Mr. Barone's best man.

Following the ceremony, a dinner was served at the bride's home for the immediate families and bridal party. Among the guests were the following from out of town: Mrs. Schellene, Falconer, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. James Jarvis and Charles Vrenna, Buffalo, N. Y.; Mrs. Sam Fenice, Jamestown, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Scalise, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Vrenna and Mrs. Frank Vrenna, Erie; Mrs. Frank Arcovio, Conneautville.

Parties for the bride have been given by her mother and her aunts, Mrs. M. J. Williams, and Mrs. L. Shirley, the Misses Mary and Angeline Scalise and girls of the Kresge store.

Such tasty, tangy filling—and tender, delicate Spry-crust lets you get the FULL flavory goodness

RHUBARB with grated orange rind—a perfect combination! Don't risk even a hint of off-flavor in the crust to spoil it. Keep away from ordinary shortenings. Use purer Spry for this and every pie you make!

Try Rosy Rhubarb Pie made the Spry FULL FLAVOR way

1¼ cups sugar
3 tablespoons quick-cooking tapioca
2 teaspoons grated orange rind
4 cups pink rhubarb, cut
1 recipe Spry Pie Crust
1 tablespoon butter

Mix sugar, tapioca, orange rind, and rhubarb (unpeeled). Let stand while pastry is being made. Roll ½ of dough ⅛-inch thick and line a 9-inch pie plate. Fill pie shell with rhubarb and dot with butter.

Roll remaining half of dough and cut into narrow strips. Place strips on top of filling to make attractive open top. Moisten edge of pie, place strip of dough around rim to hold strips in place. Pinch into a fluted rim or press together with tines of fork. Brush strips with milk and sprinkle generously with sugar. Bake in hot oven (425° F.) 50 to 60 minutes.

Spry Pie Crust

2¼ cups sifted all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon salt
¾ cup Spry
5 tablespoons cold water (about)

Sift flour and salt together. Add ⅔ of Spry and cut in until mixture is as fine as meal. (See how easily Spry mixes!) Add remaining Spry and continue cutting until particles are size of a large pea. Sprinkle water gradually over mixture. With a fork, work lightly into a dough. Add just enough water to moisten. (Measurements level)

John Bevevinos Are At Home to Friends

Mr. and Mrs. John Bevevino, wed on May 29, have returned from a wedding trip to Gettysburg and Pittsburgh and are at home to their friends at 914 Fourth avenue.

The bride is the former Jeanne Rossell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Rossell, 318 Fifth avenue, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Bevevino, 811 West Fifth avenue.

The ceremony was performed in the St Joseph rectory by Father Edward Jacobs, with Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Bevevino, brother and sister-in-law of the bridegroom, as attendants.

The bride wore a blue and white print frock with white accessories and a shoulder corsage of gardenias. Mrs. Bevevino wore beige with blue accessories and a pink rose corsage.

Both young people are graduates of the local high school, the bride in 1937 and her husband one year earlier. She has been employed by the New Process Company and he has employment at the DeLuxe Metal Furniture Company plant.

Mrs. M. W. Rossell and daughter, Anne, complimented the bride-elect at an announcement party, followed by showers given by Miss Elma Schwartz and Mrs. Ann Bonavita.

P. T. A. News

FRIENDSHIP UNIT

The last regular meeting of the Friendship P. T. A. was attended by about 25 members and visitors and was called to order by the presiden, Mrs. Hazel Smith. After the openng ceremony and routine reports, the following officers were elected for the coming year: President, Mrs. Mabel Brainard; vice president, Mrs. Margaret Lang; secretary, Mrs. Olive Jury; treasurer, Mrs. Ethel Tremain; trustee for three years, Clarence Jury.

The purchase of a new oil stove was discussed, a motion was carried and the matter of purchase placed in the hands of the trustees. A penny supper was also arranged for, to be held Friday evening, June 13, to begin promptly at six o'clock. The next regular meeting will be held Friday, June 27, at which time the officers will be installed.

At the conclusion of the business meeting, a refreshment committee consisting of Jonas Erickson and Paul Gage served ice cream, cake and coffee, which was enjoyed by all and was followed by a delightful social hour.

Home Economics News

HILL-TOPPERS MEET

The Irvinedale Hill-Toppers 4-H Club held its regular meeting at the home of Sue Mathis, Fifth street extension, with the opening pledge, routine and motion song. Mrs. Thelma Prendergast, home economics teacher, showed pictures of other clubs' accomplishments. The girls planned to bring pattern and material for wearing apparel to the next meeting, which will be held on Thursday, June 12, starting at one o'clock at the home of Elaine Daley, Cobham Park Road.

STARBRICK MEETING

The first meeting of the Starbrick 4-H Club was held at the home of Helen Hicks. The meeting was called by the president, Lois McCain, with six members, Home Economics Representative Thelma Prendergast and Mrs. Hicks, local leader, in attendance. Mrs. Prendergast showed garments made by other groups and talked about materials and finishes. She spoke about Camp Cornplanter, also about hiking and the picnic to be held for all girls of the county on June 21 at Hearts Content. This will be held instead of the candlelighting services. The meeting was adjourned after a games period.

Great Demand Shown For Conservatory's Concert Admissions

The gratifying demand for tickets for the Warren Conservatory concert on June 7 at the Philomel Club will leave only a small number to be sold at the door, it is learned today.

Besides the out of town pianist, Virginia Marks Reed, of Erie, F. Arthur Johnson, cellist, and his accompanist, Robert Benscoter, of Kane, the public will hear several local singers whose work has attracted attention in the past months.

Violet Anderson Borg's fine contralto voice will be heard in Handel's' "Largo," the "Habanera" from Bizet's "Carmen" and Ecstacy" by Rummell. Constance Dey, whose voice has developed into a soprano of arresting beauty, will sing the aria "Ah fors e lui" from Verdi's "Traviata." Agnes Kathleen Monroe will be heard in the lovely "Lo Here the Gentle Lark" by Bishop, for which her voice is particularly well suited, and with the added feature of flute obligato by Dorothy Bosin.

Roger Webster will sing the rarely heard "Serenade of Mefistofeles" from Berlioz' "Damnation of Faust," made memorable by the great Chaliapin.

Edith Haines Kuester, whose gifts as an accompanist have been widely recognized, will, in conjunction with Adelaide Swanson, play Schumann's "Andante and Variations for Two Pianos."

The ever popular quartet from "Rigoletto," with Clayton Sanden, Ruth Satterlund, Miss Monroe and Mr. Webster, will bring an exceptionally artistic program to a close.

After the concert, members of the faculty will greet friends of the Conservatory in the Philomel Club parlors.

Catholic Daughters Plan Installation Ceremony - Reception

Court Warren, Catholic Daughters of America, is making plans for its annual installation ceremonies and reception of visiting officials and has set the date for June 18.

The gathering will be held at the Philomel Club, beginning with a 6:30 o'clock dinner and followed by the welcome to Miss Anna B. Fleming, district deputy, of Kane. Miss Frances Maher, of Kane, who was recently reelected grand regent of the Pennsylvania Catholic Daughters, is expected, also.

Miss Felicia Lucia and Mrs. Josephine Slatry are co-chairmen of the committee on arrangements and are calling an important meeting of committee members for 7:45 o'clock next Tuesday evening at the Philomel Club.

Their aides for this function are Mrs. Emma Curren, Mrs. Constance Critelli, Mrs. Harriet Fleckenstein, Mrs. Mabel Horn, Mrs. Ruth Hesch, Mrs. Bertha Kamen, Mrs. Mary Agnes Lindberg, Mrs. Marie McGarry, Mrs. Edith McCauley, Mrs. Vera Nesmith, Mrs. Victoria Santoro, Mrs. Rose Smith, Mrs. Marguerite Taylor and the Misses Ann Dervin, Mary Blocher, Betty Hogan, Mary Mahood, Elma Schwartz and Henrietta Wehner.

DALZELL WEDDING OF INTEREST HERE

Mr. and Mrs. David Beaty, 312 Conewango avenue, have received announcement of the marriage of their niece, Miss Patricia Dalzell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William F. Dalzell, of Moundsville, W. Va., to George Judson, Jr., master of Judson School for Boys at Phoenix, Ariz.

The ceremony took place Monday afternoon at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., with the Rev. Joseph Hoffman, pastor of Christ Church in Charleston, officiating.

The bride attended Highland Hall in Holidaysburg and Wellesley College and both she and Mr. Judson are graduates of the University of Arizona. Following the wedding reception, the couple left by plane for El Paso, Texas, where Mr. Judson reports for duty at Fort Bliss as a first lieutenant in the cavalry.

ORCHESTRA GIVING SWING CONCERT

Announcement is made today that Will Bryden's orchestra will present a "swing concert" at the Y. W. C. A. activities building at 8:15 o'clock Friday evening. Such numbers as "Music Makers" and "The Anvil Chorus" are to be featured and specialties will include Betty Edinger in a special quartet. The affair is being sponsored by the High School Girls' Club and tickets may be had from its members.

DISTRICT MEETING OF VFW AUXILIARY

The fourth meeting of District Four, Pennsylvania Ladies' Auxiliary of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, will be held Sunday afternoon at two o'clock at the Billy Simpson Post home in Erie.

A large attendance is hoped for to greet the department president, Alice V. Jones, of Pittsburgh. Each woman attending is asked to bring a handkerchief for a shower for the state president.

RETURN HOME

Mrs. Keturah Fornear and daughter, Miss Olive, have returned to their home in Windber after spending the holiday here with their daughter and sister, Mrs. Ernest Fogel.

SHEFFIELD VISITORS

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Reed, of Savona, N. Y., visited over the past weekend with the former's mother, Mrs. F. O. Reed, and with his sister, Mrs. John Watts, and family in Sheffield.

Gloria Vrenna And Louis Barone Wed

Announcement is made today that Gloria Vrenna, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Vrenna, of North Warren, became the bride of Louis Barone at nine o'clock Saturday morning in St. Joseph's church, Father Edward Jacobs celebrating the nuptial mass and performing the marriage service.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was lovely in white chiffon and lace gown and a veil held by a coronet of seed pearls. Her flowers were yellow rosebuds and forget me nots. Mrs. James Jarvis, her cousin, was matron of honor and wore aqua chiffon. Her bouquet was of pink rosebuds and baby's breath. Betty Lou Williams was flower girl for her cousin. She wore pink organdy and carried sweet peas and forget me nots.

Louis Lucia was Mr. Barone's best man.

Following the ceremony, a dinner was served at the bride's home for the immediate families and bridal party. Among the guests were the following from out of town: Mrs. Schellene, Falconer, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. James Jarvis and Charles Vrenna, Buffalo, N. Y.; Mrs. Sam Fenice, Jamestown, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Scalise, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Vrenna and Mrs. Frank Vrenna, Erie; Mrs. Frank Arcovio, Conneautville.

Parties for the bride have been given by her mother and her aunts, Mrs. M. J. Williams, and Mrs. L. Shirley, the Misses Mary and Angeline Scalise and girls of the Kresge store.

RETURN HOME

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Mason, of Starbrick, have returned after a visit to Syracuse, Phoenix and Watertown, N. Y.

Such tasty, tangy filling—and tender, delicate Spry-crust lets you get the FULL flavory goodness

RHUBARB with grated orange rind—a perfect combination! Don't risk even a hint of off-flavor in the crust to spoil it. Keep away from ordinary shortenings. Use purer Spry for this and every pie you make!

Try Rosy Rhubarb Pie made the Spry FULL FLAVOR way

1½ cups sugar
3 tablespoons quick-cooking tapioca
2 teaspoons grated orange rind
4 cups pink rhubarb, cut
1 recipe Spry Pie Crust
1 tablespoon butter

Mix sugar, tapioca, orange rind, and rhubarb (unpeeled). Let stand while pastry is being made. Roll ⅔ of dough ⅛-inch thick and line a 9-inch pie plate. Fill pie shell with rhubarb and dot with butter.

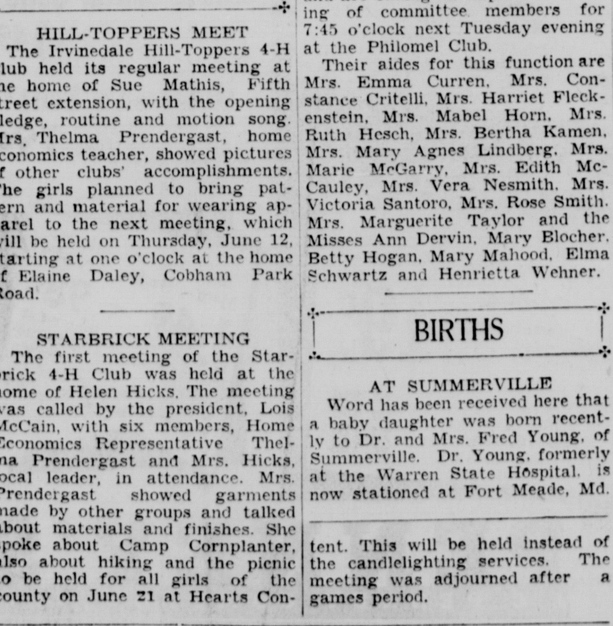

Roll remaining half of dough and cut into narrow strips. Place strips on top of filling to make attractive open top. Moisten edge of pie, place strip of dough around rim to hold strips in place. Pinch into a fluted rim or press together with tines of fork. Brush strips with milk and sprinkle generously with sugar. Bake in hot oven (425° F.) 50 to 60 minutes.

Spry Pie Crust

2¼ cups sifted all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon salt
¾ cup Spry
5 tablespoons cold water (about)

Sift flour and salt together. Add ⅓ of Spry and cut in until mixture is as fine as meal. (See how easily Spry mixes!) Add remaining Spry and continue cutting until particles are size of a large pea. Sprinkle water gradually over mixture. With a fork, work lightly into a dough. Add just enough water to moisten. (Measurements level)

ANNUAL Y.M.C.A. CAMP TO START SEASON JULY 5

The 17th annual camping season of the Warren Y. M C. A. will open this year on July 5th and continue to July 26th, it was announced today. The first two weeks will comprise the regular boys camp and the last week will be held as a health camp for underprivileged boys

It will be held at the regular camp spot on Lake Erie, near Brocton, N. Y. Telford P Eppley, boys' work secretary of the "Y", will be camp director

The Warren "Y" camp offers many fine features for the boys, such as fine safe bathing in Lake Erie, adequate campus and athletic fields, best of cooking, fine leadership first aid service, sanitary facilities etc it was stated.

A full program for each day is being planned to insure the boys the greatest amount of fun possible. Some of the program features will include athletics, hobbycraft, nature study swim lessons, hikes, camp lore games, campfires, stunts, Bible study tent devotions, swim meets track events, treasure hunts, emblem tests and "snipe" hunts.

Y. M. C. A officials urged boys to sign up for the camp right away. If the registrations are received at the "Y" before June 15th each boy signing by that date will receive the new camp emblem, it was stated

Plans are being formulated for a strong staff of leaders and the old campers will be glad to know that many of last year's leaders will be back this year The complete list of leaders will be announced later.

UNION LEADERS ACCUSED

Phoenixville, Pa June 5.—(AP) Justice of the Peace George D. Ellwanger held two CIO officials under $500 bail pending court action on charges of riot and inciting to riot

The two were George Medrick of Reading, sub-regional director of the CIO, and Pepter Schneider of Stowe, organizer for the Steel Workers Organizing Committee.

Phoenixville Police Chief Fred MacInnis charged they created a disturbance at the gates of the Phoenix Steel and Iron Company during a strike last month.

NOTED SPEAKER WILL BE GUEST AT LOCAL HOME

On his way back to London England, following a lecture tour in this country, Donald Grant will be a week-end guest of the Rev. and Mrs. Harold C. Warren, Market street.

With the approval of the British Ministry of Information Mr. Grant was lecturing among British soldiers in France before Dunkerque, spent last summer in Canada and has been in the United States, visiting colleges in the South and West since November. He is here under the auspices of the Institute of International Education

Mr. Warren following his graduation from Princeton University, went to Edinburgh, Scotland, to study theology While there he became a close friend of Mr. Grant, who was then amateur golf champion of Scotland, having won the George V cup three successive years Mr Warren visited the Grant home at Dornoch, in the north of Scotland. This friendship has been continued by correspondence ever since.

Mr Grant, meanwhile, has become well known throughout the world for his achievements in international work with college students For years he edited "Vox Studentium," a students' magazine with international circulation. With headquarters in Geneva Switzerland his work took him into all countries of Europe and as far away as New Zealand During the last 25 years he has had unusual opportunities to observe events behind the international scenes.

He is scheduled to speak at the meeting of the Warren Rotary Club Monday noon. If his engagements permit him to arrive here in time, he will be at the Presbyterian church on Sunday, but this at present is uncertain.

Annual Commencement Exercises at Youngsville High School Are Held

Youngsville, June 5—The 54th annual commencement exercises were held last night in the high school auditorium, which was beautifully decorated in the class colors and red roses, the class flower. The class members in grey gowns and caps, were accompanied by the high school ensemble for the processional and recessional.

Rev. C. Donald Dibble, United Brethren pastor, gave the invocation and benediction. Students appearing were John Stephenson for the salutatory and Esther Fitzgerald, the valedictorian. "Norine Waltz" was played by Carl Henton as a saxophone solo, and Arthur Briggs' violin selection was "Cavatina."

The address was delivered by Dr. J. Ruskin Howe, president of Otterbein College, using as his theme, "A Formula for Success." He stressed three elements he considered necessary for real greatness: A true spirit of patriotism, an abiding faith and work that is in some way beneficial to the world.

Before giving diplomas to the graduates, Superintendent Paul R. Getts presented the Balford Award for scholarship, leadership and loyalty to the school, and kindred virtues to John William Stephenson. Diplomas were awarded according to school courses and recipients were as follows:

ANNUAL Y.M.C.A. CAMP TO START SEASON JULY 5

The 17th annual camping season of the Warren Y. M. C. A. will open this year on July 5th and continue to July 26th, it was announced today. The first two weeks will comprise the regular boys' camp and the last week will be held as a health camp for underprivileged boys.

It will be held at the regular camp spot on Lake Erie, near Brocton, N. Y. Telford F. Eppley, boys' work secretary of the "Y", will be camp director.

The Warren "Y" camp offers many fine features for the boys, such as fine, safe bathing in Lake Erie, adequate campus and athletic fields, best of cooking, fine leadership, first aid service, sanitary facilities, etc., it was stated.

A full program for each day is being planned to insure the boys the greatest amount of fun possible. Some of the program features will include athletics, hobbycraft, nature study, swim lessons, hikes, camp lore, games, campfires, stunts, Bible study, tent devotions, swim meets, track events, treasure hunts, emblem tests and "snipe" hunts.

Y. M. C. A. officials urged boys to sign up for the camp right away. If the registrations are received at the "Y" before June 15th, each boy signing by that date will receive the new camp emblem, it was stated.

Plans are being formulated for a strong staff of leaders and the old campers will be glad to know that many of last year's leaders will be back this year. The complete list of leaders will be announced later.

AIRPORT NEWS

By The Skipper

The local airport has been very busy with the arrival of spring.

Several new students have enrolled for flight training and inasmuch as the King Air Service is now a government-approved flight school, the private students are taught the same curriculum as the CPT students, thus saving themselves time and expense in securing their licenses.

Final examinations were held at the ground school room at the Jefferson school and all the students are anxiously waiting for the return of their exams. The tests were given by Harold Stevens, C. A. A. ground school supervisor.

With the cooperation of the fraternal organizations in the city—the Elks, Moose, Conewango Club, V. F. W. and Marconi Club—it has been made possible for four more students to receive flight training. These lodges and clubs sponsored students, each of which will be matched by one more by the government in addition to the original ten who are scheduled to receive training.

The students soloed last week at the local field. Robert William Loomis completed his solo course in less than two weeks.

We also have another girl solo student, Miss Dorothy Hood, of North Warren. I think we all agree that Miss Hood is well worthy of her solo by demonstrating her desire to fly and determination to stick with it until she mastered it.

The King Air Service has another new ship in its fleet—a new Cub Cruiser which will be used for passenger hops and charter trips as well as student instruction.

"Slip" King has been kept busy the last few days giving flight tests for the C. A. A. He has run off two tests at Oil City, one at Warren and last week four tests were given to students from up in New York state.

The Warren Airport is planning a day of exhibition flying, student competition and parachute jumping for July 4th. Watch the local paper for further announcement of this attraction.

Bob Carlino has been making frequest trips to Meadville with his Travel-Air. He says he is going to start a scheduled run as soon as he gets the course checked thoroughly.

Dr. Casler has his ship back in commission and is flying again.

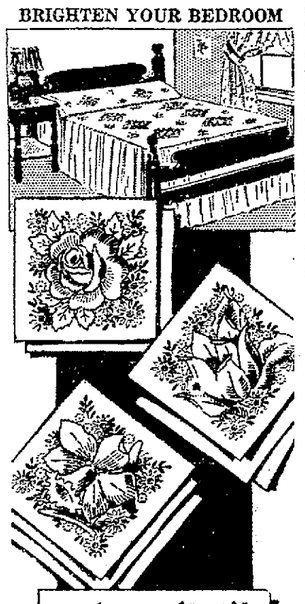

Lewis Fredrickson has soloed and is flying his ship when he can find time to get to the field.

Jay McCausland, one of our local pilots and a former student at the Warren Airport, is now a flight instructor at Niagara Falls, N. Y.

Where Warren Marble Champ Will Play

The same expert engineering that made the golf corse at Hershey so famous throughout the country that it attracts leading golf tournaments and golfers of the nation now is being used to build the finest marbles rings in the country.

In the background you can see the Hershey Park Country Club where the Warren marbles champion and other marbles champions of the northern district will live during the four days of their tournament June 15 to 19. In the foreground are the marbles rings for the tournament, under construction. On the other side of the clubhouse is the huge, safe Hershey Park swimming pool, where marbles players will have plenty of fun.

Ben Hogan, one of the leading professional golfers of the United States, will show marbles champions how to play golf between marbles games.

PATROLMAN EXONERATED

Altoona, June 5.—(AP)—A coroner's jury last night exonerated Patrolman John Schonder in the fatal shooting May 26 of James Bolt Hall, 50, a negro.

The officer testified he fired when Hall attempted to escape after being arrested on a charge of theft. He said he fired three shots into the ground first as a warning.

AIRPORT NEWS

By The Skipper

The local airport has been very busy with the arrival of spring.

Several new students have enrolled for flight training and inasmuch as the King Air Service is now a government-approved flight school, the private students are taught the same curriculum as the CPT students, thus saving themselves time and expense in securing their licenses.

Final examinations were held at the ground school room at the Jefferson school and all the students are anxiously waiting for the return of their exams. The tests were given by Harold Stevens, C. A. A. ground school supervisor.

With the cooperation of the fraternal organizations in the city—the Elks, Moose, Conewango Club, V. F. W. and Marconi Club—it has been made possible for four more students to receive flight training. These lodges and clubs sponsored students, each of which will be matched by one more by the government in addition to the original ten who are scheduled to receive training.

We also have another girl solo student, Miss Dorothy Hood, of North Warren. I think we all agree that Miss Hood is well worthy of her solo by demonstrating her desire to fly and determination to stick with it until she mastered it.

The King Air Service has another new ship in its fleet—a new Cub Cruiser which will be used for passenger hops and charter trips as well as student instruction.

"Slip" King has been kept busy the last few days giving flight tests for the C. A. A. He has run off two tests at Oil City, one at Warren and last week four tests were given to students from up in New York state.

The Warren Airport is planning a day of exhibition flying, student competition and parachute jumping for July 4th. Watch the local paper for further announcement of this attraction.

Bob Carlino has been making frequest trips to Meadville with his Travel-Air. He says he is going to start a scheduled run as soon as he gets the course checked thoroughly.

Dr. Casler has his ship back in commission and is flying again.

Lewis Fredrickson has soloed and is flying his ship when he can find time to get to the field.

Jay McCausland, one of our local pilots and a former student at the Warren Airport, is now a flight instructor at Niagara Falls, N. Y.

Plan That Warm Day Meal For Eye Appeal, Urges Mrs. Katharine Baldridge, Discussing Colorful Salads and Cranberry Garnishes

Dear Friends in Warren:

Although the modern homemaker considers appetite - appeal throughout the year, the emphasis in chilly seasons is on substantial dishes. Spring and summer call for extra care and thought in planning tempting meals—and of course eye-appeal means color.

Successful chefs and tea room managers deliberately plan these attractive special plates on muggy days when the appetitie is as listless as the weather. It is no accident that a salad of green asparagus tips, thin hard-cooked egg slices and bright red tomato is arranged carefully on crisp chickory and watercress. We can all profit from studying such color schemes and can learn, too, from the restaurant trick of serving the dressing in a small paper cup on the side, rather than mixing it into such a combination so that it looks "stirred up" and far less appetizing.

Salads belong to all seasons, yet they do seem particularly suited to warm days. It is noticeable that men who once scoffed at salad plates choose them regularly at lunchtime. You will notice that they favor sturdy vegetable salads, rather than the mixed fruit, or fruit and cottage cheese combinations, which appeal to feminine lunchers. A popular plate in one grill that caters to men has a circle of fresh shrimps and sliced tomato on greens, with the chosen dressing in a center cup.

When your main dinner dish is a rich roast and gravy, include sliced tomato in the salad, even when it is spread simply on chilled watercress. By the way, watercress is nearly as rich in Vitamin C as grass—so use it generously.

The expert chef maintains that a salad is only as good as its dressing. Consider the tastes of your family and guests before blending your dressing—which also should be suited to the balance of the meal and the time of day. The usual rule for French dressing is three tablespoons of oil to one of vinegar, although many authorities simply say "twice as much oil as vinegar." Wine vinegar is preferred by hosts of salad lovers, but others are switching now to sample the fascinating collection of spices and seasoned vinegars on the market.

These vinegar infusions achieve vigorous flavor without losing freshness and bouquet, and are delicious added to salads, hot and cold vegetables, and even hors d'oeuvres. One house alone puts out five vinegars—mixed herb garlic, basil, morjoram and mint, the mint vinegar being just the thing to rub into the leg of lamb and lion lamb chops.

Folks who like to mix their own, rub the wooden bowl first with garlic. Into the dry bowl then go salt, pepper and a bit of dry English mustard. The vinegar is poured in next and the mixture stirred until it is smooth. Olive oil is added last, when the dressing is stirred steadily with a wooden salad fork until it is perfectly emulsified.

Such a basic dressing can be varied endlessly. For surprise flavor, substitute a fleck of curry powder for the mustard and use tarragon vinegar. After French dressing is mixed, add variety with finely cut parsley or chives, or a mixture of chopped pickles and green pepper.

Mayonnaise can be treated to surprises, too, after its original blending. Whip in 1 to 2 tablespoons finely cut parsley or chives, fine cutting with sharp shears gives a better effect than chopping. One teaspoon of chervil (a milder, slightly peppery parsley) is a novel addition. Chervil is used with great enthusiasm by the French, who regard it as standard in salad, for egg and poultry dishes, for sorrel and spinach soups.

A touch of red on hot or cold vegetable plates, or with assorted cold cuts, is just as provocative as vivid greens. Coming into fresh appreciation is a specialty once reserved for cold weather garnishing, bright red cranberry sauce. Now that cranberry products are available in convenient cans, the horizon of cranberry uses has steadily widened to include three meals a day, starting with cranberry juice at breakfast.

This food has patriotic appeal, for cranberry growing and harvesting is a typically all-American industry. Three-fourths of the nation's cranberries grow on Cape Cod in Massachusetts, the remainder in New Jersey, Wisconsin and a few in Oregon. At harvest time berries not needed for immediate canning are quickly frozen in grower-owned freezing plants and held at low temperature until needed. Following the holidays, when inventory stocks are depleted, berries are withdrawn from freezers and canned. Freezing "arrests" the cranberries at flavor peak, thus making possible fresh-pack cranberry sauce the year round.

In buying canned cranberry sauce, look for dark red color, which means vine-ripened cranberries. Brown-colored sauce denotes old pack or faulty preparation. Nutrition authorities are suggesting that thick wedges of cranberry sauce may take the place of an extra vegetable, since this food is strong in minerals and vitamins, even boasting iodine.

A new party inspiration is the use of special cutters for jellied cranberry sauce, giving a decorative effect on individual luncheon plates. I even saw a baked Easter ham surrounded by a parade of cranberry bunnies, cut with a plastic bunny cutter.

When you use cut-outs, don't waste the ruby crumbs. Crush them with a fork and serve on breakfast toast, as a change from marmalade or jam; or add the bits to your favorite muffin batter—or place them on top of each muffin, just before baking.

The Fishery Council in New York City claims the distinction of discovreing cranberry sauce as the ideal accompaniment for all forms of fish. The council points out that the sauce meets the two important requirements of a fish garnish, color and tartness. Wedges of the sauce garnish baked or broiled fish, or a fish-shaped cutter will produce a professional garnish. Washed and heated to boiling, the sauce is poured over golden brown codfish balls.

Here is a tempting, easily-prepared recipe for Halibut Au Gratin, which may be prepared in scallop shells or in a baking utensil:

Halibut Au Gratin

2 cups cooked halibut or other white meat fish.
2 cups medium-thick white sauce.
2 cups grated American cheese.
Salt and pepper.

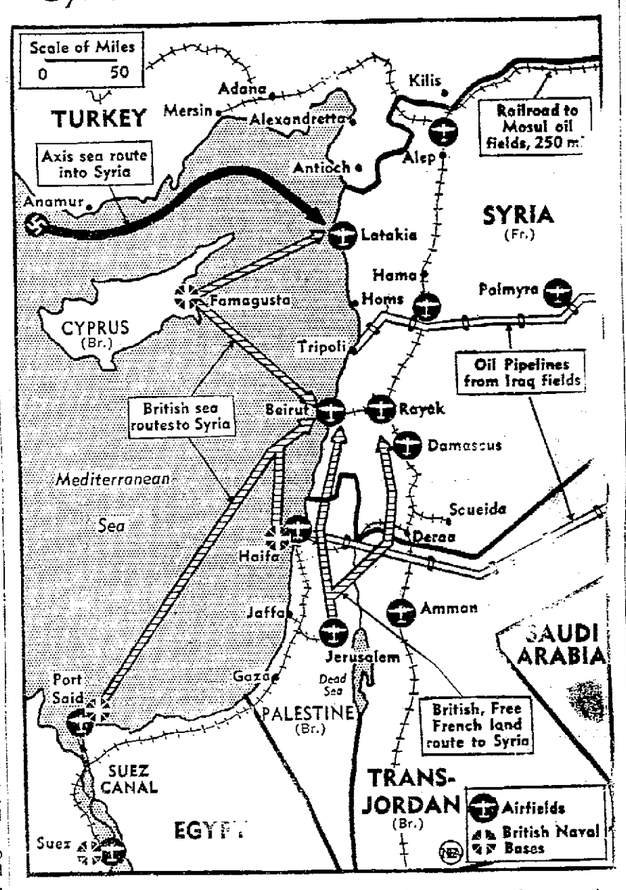

Pick over halibut, being sure to remove all bones. Keep in as meaty chunks as possible. Grate the cheese. Season white sauce well with salt and pepper and add two-thirds of the cheese to it, stirring until cheese melts and sauce is smooth. Place halibut in buttered baking dish and pour sauce over it. Sprinkle with remaining cheese.

Bake in moderate oven 350 degrees F. until well-browned; cheese on top should melt. Serve with sections of jellied cranberry sauce. Serves 4 to 6.

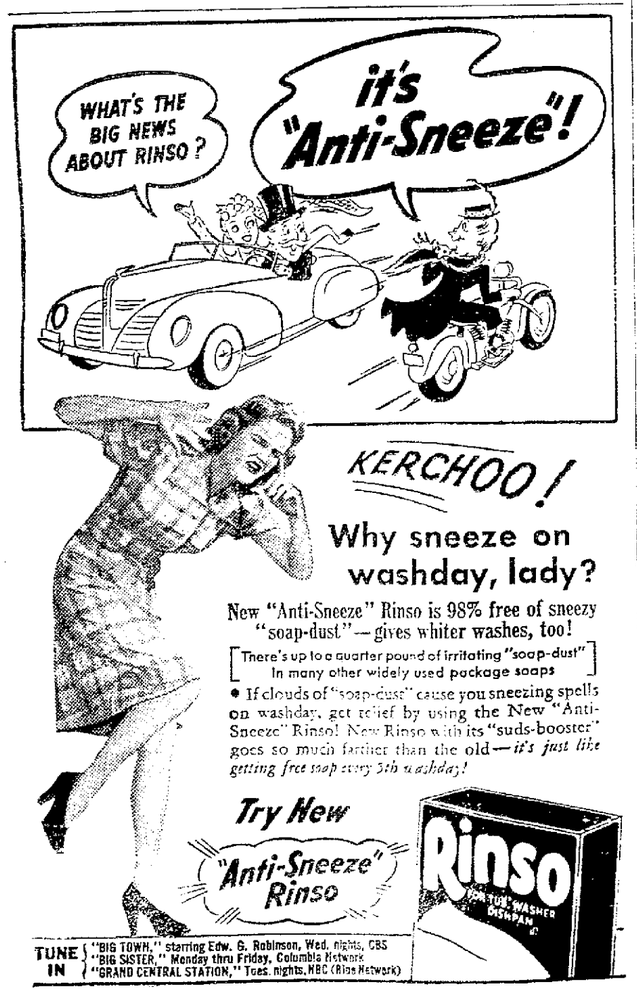

Let's make it a colorful season, three meals a day!

Mrs. Katharine Baldridge.

Syria in Path of Double Invasion

Invasion from both ends threatens French Syria, as sea-borne axis forces are reported stealing along the Turkish coast by night, and British are considering grabbing the country before Nazis take it over. German planes have already been using Syrian air bases en route to Iraq.

Youngsville News

ORANGE CIRCLE

The Orange Circle met on their new date, the first Tuesday of the month, this week. The group enjoyed a pleasant time at the Forge Clubhouse with Mrs. Springer as hostess.

The missionary study of China was continued after the business and devotional session was conducted by the president, Mrs. Charles Briggs.

During the social hour, Mrs. Gurney Ball pleased with a humorous reading and Mrs. John Zeliff led in the playing of some interesting games. A bountiful tureen luncheon was enjoyed.

BRIEFS

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dyer and daughter, Margaret, enjoyed a holiday trip the last of the week to Washington, D. C., and other points in that vicinity.

There wil be no meeting of the Methodist Woman's Society of Christian Service this week, but the organization will hold their annual plate opening and co-operative dinner at 1 p. m., Friday June 20th, at the home of Mrs. Arthur Streeter, with Mrs. F. E. Freeman, program leader.

The society will have a vacation in July and meet August 1 for a picnic meeting at the home of Mrs. Edith Husted.

Miss Margaret Burwell, who has been this winter in Deland, Florida, is now spending some time at the home of Miss Nellie Knapp.

Guests this week of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Johnson were Mr. and Mrs. Joe Rodgers, of Oil City, and Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Pillings, of Phillipsburg.

Mrs. Johnson will be hostess on Thursday to the United Brethren Ladies' Aid Society of Pittsfield, entertaining at her home in Youngsville.

Dr. and Mrs. R. H. Knapp are in attendance at the national medical convention in Cleveland. They expect to return this evening.

Dr. John Thompson, who is now with the U. S. Medical Corps, is spending with Mrs. Thompson a few days in Youngsville this week.

Plan That Warm Day Meal For Eye Appeal, Urges Mrs. Katharine Baldridge, Discussing Colorful Salads and Cranberry Garnishes

Dear Friends in Warren:

Although the modern homemaker considers appetite - appeal throughout the year, the emphasis in chilly seasons is on substantial dishes. Spring and summer call for extra care and thought in planning tempting meals—and of course eye-appeal means color.

Successful chefs and tea room managers deliberately plan these attractive special plates on muggy days when the appetitie is as listless as the weather. It is no accident that a salad of green asparagus tips, thin hard-cooked egg slices and bright red tomato is arranged carefully on crisp chickory and watercress. We can all profit from studying such color schemes and can learn, too, from the restaurant trick of serving the dressing in a small paper cup on the side, rather than mixing it into such a combination so that it looks "stirred up" and far less appetizing.

Salads belong to all seasons, yet they do seem particularly suited to warm days. It is noticeable that men who once scoffed at salad plates choose them regularly at lunchtime. You will notice that they favor sturdy vegetable salads, rather than the mixed fruit, or fruit and cottage cheese combinations, which appeal to feminine lunchers. A popular plate in one grill that caters to men has a circle of fresh shrimps and sliced tomato on greens, with the chosen dressing in a center cup.

When your main dinner dish is a rich roast and gravy, include sliced tomato in the salad, even when it is spread simply on chilled watercress. By the way, watercress is nearly as rich in Vitamin C as grass—so use it generously.

The expert chef maintains that a salad is only as good as its dressing. Consider the tastes of your family and guests before blending your dressing—which also should be suited to the balance of the meal and the time of day. The usual rule for French dressing is three tablespoons of oil to one of vinegar, although many authorities simply say "twice as much oil as vinegar." Wine vinegar is preferred by hosts of salad lovers, but others are switching now to sample the fascinating collection of spices and seasoned vinegars on the market.

These vinegar infusions achieve vigorous flavor without losing freshness and bouquet, and are delicious added to salads, hot and cold vegetables, and even hors d'oeuvres. One house alone puts out five vinegars—mixed herb garlic, basil, morjoram and mint, the mint vinegar being just the thing to rub into the leg of lamb and lion lamb chops.

Folks who like to mix their own, rub the wooden bowl first with garlic. Into the dry bowl then go salt, pepper and a bit of dry English mustard. The vinegar is poured in next and the mixture stirred until it is smooth. Olive oil is added last, when the dressing is stirred steadily with a wooden salad fork until it is perfectly emulsified.

Such a basic dressing can be varied endlessly. For surprise flavor, substitute a fleck of curry powder for the mustard and use tarragon vinegar. After French dressing is mixed, add variety with finely cut parsley or chives, or a mixture of chopped pickles and green pepper.

Mayonnaise can be treated to surprises, too, after its original blending. Whip in 1 to 2 tablespoons finely cut parsley or chives, fine cutting with sharp shears gives a better effect than chopping. One teaspoon of chervil (a milder, slightly peppery parsley) is a novel addition. Chervil is used with great enthusiasm by the French, who regard it as standard in salad, for egg and poultry dishes, for sorrel and spinach soups.

A touch of red on hot or cold vegetable plates, or with assorted cold cuts, is just as provocative as vivid greens. Coming into fresh appreciation is a specialty once reserved for cold weather garnishing, bright red cranberry sauce. Now that cranberry products are available in convenient cans, the horizon of cranberry uses has steadily widened to include three meals a day, starting with cranberry juice at breakfast.

This food has patriotic appeal, for cranberry growing and harvesting is a typically all-American industry. Three-fourths of the nation's cranberries grow on Cape Cod in Massachusetts, the remainder in New Jersey, Wisconsin and a few in Oregon. At harvest time berries not needed for immediate canning are quickly frozen in grower-owned freezing plants and held at low temperature until needed. Following the holidays, when inventory stocks are depleted, berries are withdrawn from freezers and canned. Freezing "arrests" the cranberries at flavor peak, thus making possible fresh-pack cranberry sauce the year round.

In buying canned cranberry sauce, look for dark red color, which means vine-ripened cranberries. Brown-colored sauce denotes old pack or faulty preparation. Nutrition authorities are suggesting that thick wedges of cranberry sauce may take the place of an extra vegetable, since this food is strong in minerals and vitamins, even boasting iodine.

A new party inspiration is the use of special cutters for jellied cranberry sauce, giving a decorative effect on individual luncheon plates. I even saw a baked Easter ham surrounded by a parade of cranberry bunnies, cut with a plastic bunny cutter.

When you use cut-outs, don't waste the ruby crumbs. Crush them with a fork and serve on breakfast toast, as a change from marmalade or jam; or add the bits to your favorite muffin batter—or place them on top of each muffin, just before baking.

The Fishery Council in New York City claims the distinction of discovreing cranberry sauce as the ideal accompaniment for all forms of fish. The council points out that the sauce meets the two important requirements of a fish garnish, color and tartness. Wedges of the sauce garnish baked or broiled fish, or a fish-shaped cutter will produce a professional garnish. Washed and heated to boiling, the sauce is poured over golden brown codfish balls.

Here is a tempting, easily-prepared recipe for Halibut Au Gratin, which may be prepared in scallop shells or in a baking utensil:

Halibut Au Gratin

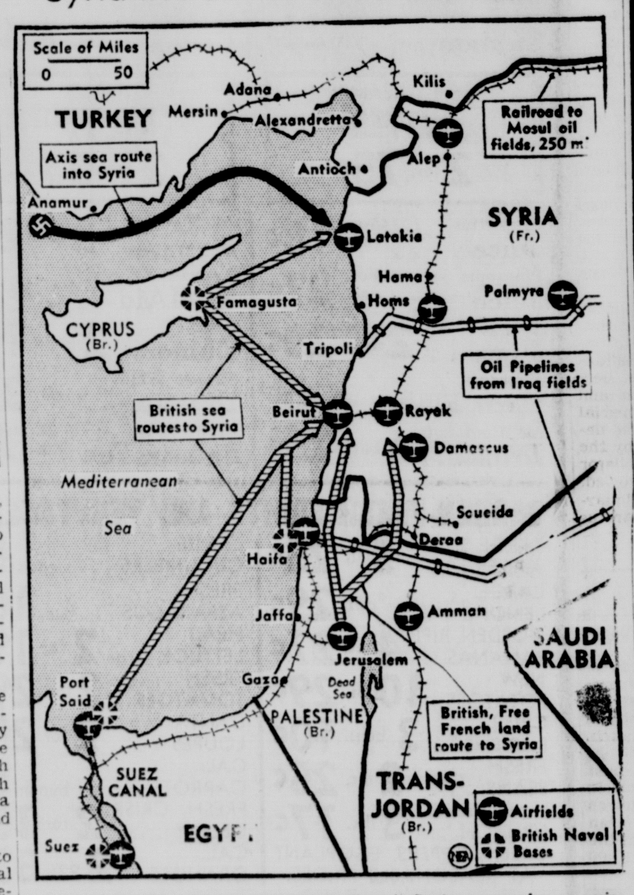

2 cups cooked halibut or other white meat fish.
2 cups medium-thick white sauce.
2 cups grated American cheese.
Salt and pepper.

Pick over halibut, being sure to remove all bones. Keep in as meaty chunks as possible. Grate the cheese. Season white sauce well with salt and pepper and add two-thirds of the cheese to it, stirring until cheese melts and sauce is smooth. Place halibut in buttered baking dish and pour sauce over it. Sprinkle with remaining cheese. Bake in moderate oven 350 degrees F. until well-browned; cheese on top should melt. Serve with sections of jellied cranberry sauce. Serves 4 to 6.

Mrs. Katharine Baldridge.

Demonstration of New Fire Truck To Be Held Here Friday Evening

A demonstration of the Warren Fire Department's new foam and high pressure truck will be staged Friday evening at 7:30 in Pennsylvania avenue, west, near Hickory street, it was announced today. This demonstration will consist of various hose layouts and fire streams and will show the efficiency of operating a piece of apparatus such as this one by a fire department that is undermanned, Fire Chief Douglas G. Kropf stated.

The type of apparatus is unique, as it is the only one that is known to be in service at this time. The truck was designed by the chief of the local department and the high pressure equipment was built by members of the department in the local shop. The body work was done in the shop of the Transport Equipment Company in Erie as being the lowest bidder on bids asked by council.

The main principle of the operation of this truck is to provide heavy caliber streams that can be handled by one man and thus release the other men for other duties at a large fire. A large manifold is mounted over the hose body with connections for four three-inch hose lines to feed water. Discharging from this manifold are two large turret nozzles which are controlled by valves, the large one in front capable of handling 1,200 gallons per minute and the smaller one in the rear 900 gallons per minute. After the hose lines are laid, one man can operate and control both nozzles. For night fires a powerful searchlight is mounted between these nozzles with a reel of cable to allow connection to the department light generator up to 250 feet away. Valves are also provided on the manifold for hand lines of hose which may be of the 1½-inch or 2½-inch sizes, to be used inside buildings. After the manifold is connected to a hydrant, any number of hose layouts or appliances or combination of heavy streams and other appliances may be used. This truck lays two lines of 3-inch hose from the hydrant to the fire at the same time, thus saving the time of turning the truck around and returning to the hydrant to lay the second line, as done by conventional apparatus.

With the increasing traffic of oil and gasoline tank trucks, the hazard from these sources is increasing. The new apparatus is designed to handle fires of this type along with fires in refineries or other volatile liquid fires. A foam generator with complete equipment is carried in a cabinet on the truck, along with a supply of 800 to 1,200 pounds of foam powder. Large vapor nozzle tips are provided for each of the two turret nozzles, a foam applicator pipe, foam nozzle, pipe adapters of all sizes and a supply of dry sand complete the oil fire equipment. In the event of having to work close to a hot fire, the truck operator is able to operate a connection to use the body railings on the truck for a water curtain to protect the men and apparatus from heat.

The equipment carried on the truck consists of: Two turret pipes with vapor tips and a complete change of straight stream tips from 1¼-inch to 1¾-inch, searchlight and 250 feet of cable, foam applicator, foam nozzle, two 2½-inch shut-off nozzles, two 3-inch hose connections for appliances, pipe thread adapters from 2 to 5-inch iron pipe, set of turret nozzle holders for small turret nozzle so that nozzle can be operated from the truck, on the ground, from a ladder or from a building wall; two cans of dry sand, 1½-quart carbon tetrachloride extinguisher, 800 to 1,200 pounds of foam powder and 100 feet of 2½-inch hose to connect foam generator with foam nozzle. In the main hose bodies, of which there are two, 1,000 feet of 3-inch hose fitted with five-part reducing couplings having 2½-inch thread is carried. This 3-inch hose used as one line of 3-inch hose has nearly the carrying capacity of two lines of the regular 2½-inch hose The reducing couplings are required by the underwriters so that the 3-inch hose can be connected to the 2½-inch hose without the use of special adapters. These couplings only increase the friction loss in the hose about 3% to 5% more than if straight 3-inch couplings were used.

This new apparatus will be placed in service at the Central Fire Station and will answer all calls to refineries, factories, mercantile establishments, tank wagon fires, service stations on the first alarm and other calls when needed on special alarms. To cooperate with the department in giving an alarm by the use of telephone if gasoline, oils or other volatile liquids are involved, tell the operator at fire headquarters, so that this piece of apparatus may be sent at once.

How Many Women LOSE FAT

Would you like to lose pounds of ugly fat and gain a more slender figure—gain that increase of energy and attractiveness which generally follows weight reduction and rise mornings bubbling over with vigor?

Well that is the experience of thousands of women who faithfully followed this safe Kruschen plan. And it's all so easy, inexpensive—an almost effortless home method—approved by thousands of doctors.

Simply take a half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of water before breakfast. Cut out pastry and fatty meats—go light on white bread, potatoes, butter and cream and keep this up for 30 days.

Demonstration of New Fire Truck To Be Held Here Friday Evening

A demonstration of the Warren Fire Department's new foam and high pressure truck will be staged Friday evening at 7:30 in Pennsylvania avenue, west, near Hickory street, it was announced today. This demonstration will consist of various hose layouts and fire streams and will show the efficiency of operating a piece of apparatus such as this one by a fire department that is undermanned, Fire Chief Douglas G. Kropf stated.

The type of apparatus is unique, as it is the only one that is known to be in service at this time. The truck was designed by the chief of the local department and the high pressure equipment was built by members of the department in the local shop. The body work was done in the shop of the Transport Equipment Company in Erie as being the lowest bidder on bids asked by council.

The main principle of the operation of this truck is to provide heavy caliber streams that can be handled by one man and thus release the other men for other duties at a large fire. A large manifold is mounted over the hose body with connections for four three-inch hose lines to feed water. Discharging from this manifold are two large turret nozzles which are controlled by valves, the large one in front capable of handling 1,200 gallons per minute and the smaller one in the rear 900 gallons per minute. After the hose lines are laid, one man can operate and control both nozzles. For night fires a powerful searchlight is mounted between these nozzles with a reel of cable to allow connection to the department light generator up to 250 feet away. Valves are also provided on the manifold for hand lines of hose which may be of the 1½-inch or 2½-inch sizes, to be used inside buildings. After the manifold is connected to a hydrant, any number of hose layouts or appliances or combination of heavy streams and other appliances may be used. This truck lays two lines of 3-inch hose from the hydrant to the fire at the same time, thus saving the time of turning the truck around and returning to the hydrant to lay the second line, as done by conventional apparatus.

With the increasing traffic of oil and gasoline tank trucks, the hazard from these sources is increasing. The new apparatus is designed to handle fires of this type along with fires in refineries or other volatile liquid fires. A foam generator with complete equipment is carried in a cabinet on the truck, along with a supply of 800 to 1,200 pounds of foam powder. Large vapor nozzle tips are provided for each of the two turret nozzles, a foam applicator pipe, foam nozzle, pipe adapters of all sizes and a supply of dry sand complete the oil fire equipment. In the event of having to work close to a hot fire, the truck operator is able to operate a connection to use the body railings on the truck for a water curtain to protect the men and apparatus from heat.

The equipment carried on the truck consists of: Two turret pipes with vapor tips and a complete change of straight stream tips from 1¼-inch to 1¾-inch, searchlight and 250 feet of cable, foam applicator, foam nozzle, two 2½-inch shut-off nozzles, two 3-inch hose connections for appliances, pipe thread adapters from 2 to 5-inch iron pipe, set of turret nozzle holders for small turret nozzle so that nozzle can be operated from the truck, on the ground, from a ladder or from a building wall; two cans of dry sand, 1½-quart carbon tetrachloride extinguisher, 800 to 1,200 pounds of foam powder and 100 feet of 2½-inch hose to connect foam generator with foam nozzle. In the main hose bodies, of which there are two, 1,000 feet of 3-inch hose fitted with five-part reducing couplings having 2½-inch thread is carried. This 3-inch hose used as one line of 3-inch hose has nearly the carrying capacity of two lines of the regular 2½-inch hose. The reducing couplings are required by the underwriters so that the 3-inch hose can be connected to the 2½-inch hose without the use of special adapters. These couplings only increase the friction loss in the hose about 3% to 5% more than if straight 3-inch couplings were used.

This new apparatus will be placed in service at the Central Fire Station and will answer all calls to refineries, factories, mercantile establishments, tank wagon fires, service stations on the first alarm and other calls when needed on special alarms. To cooperate with the department in giving an alarm by the use of telephone if gasoline, oils or other volatile liquids are involved, tell the operator at fire headquarters, so that this piece of apparatus may be sent at once.

How Many Women LOSE FAT

Would you like to lose pounds of ugly fat and gain a more slender figure—gain that increase of energy and attractiveness which generally follows weight reduction and rise mornings bubbling over with vigor?

Well that is the experience of thousands of women who faithfully followed this safe Kruschen plan. And it's all so easy, inexpensive—an almost effortless home method—approved by thousands of doctors.

Simply take a half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of water before breakfast. Cut out pastry and fatty meats—go light on white bread, potatoes, butter and cream and keep this up for 30 days.

YESTERDAY. Anne Willard Blace Sherwood and Pete Mackey thought they had escaped the Emir and were on their way to the desert camp of Anne's parents. Chapter 14

Stuffed Olives

THE bright, unearthly moonlight did strange things to them, cast exotic shadows about their eyes and the planes of their heads and bodies.

"Just who are we and just where are we?" queried Anne, as she stood aloof and spiring before the curtain of the falls.

Mackey gave her one look and turned and trudged off down to the fire that the men had built up extravagantly. Anne watched him, aware she should follow.

"I know where we are," murmured Sherwood, putting an arm around her as he stood at her side. "Can't you guess?"

She looked up at him and shook her head.

"Don't you recognize the place? This is paradise."

"And Doddap wept when he promised you heaven."

"But we have the present." He drew her to him. "Put your arms around my neck."

Her beauty-loving eyes traced the sculptured lines of his head, following the streak of white in his hair.

His mouth came down on hers at first gently as if testing its welcome, then taking bold possession.

When he relaxed his clasp a trifle she pushed away from him aghast. "I must be crazy," she cried. "Never before——"

"Then it's about time," he said, his voice still gruff with emotion, and would have drawn her to him again, but she twisted free and fled to Mackey and the fire.

Mackey brought her coat and as Sherwood joined them remarked quizzically to him: "My brains, her charm and your luck."

"Have brought us to this" added Anne, indicated the landscape about them and the fire before them in which they could see the pieces of their carriage going up in flames. "If we leave here it won't be as we came."

The men avoided her eyes until Sherwood turned, bending over her. "See, a banquet is being set in the tent. Did you bring one gorgeous dress?"

Her eyes began to glow. "A golden chiffon especially packed."

"We'll have a party," offered Mackey as his share of a gallant gesture. "You in chiffon. Blaze in a tux and me with my uniform buttons shined."

Anne had trouble with tears all the time she was alone in the tent drawing on gossamer stockings and satin underthings and finally brushing her hair to a perfect lustre. When she lifted the tent flap, the cook stood there waiting, a great platter of steaming rice in his hands.

Dinner

THEY took their places around the table on which stood scores of dishes of food, the great platter of rice, sheets of bread, meat cakes, sweet cakes, nuts, watermelon seeds, mounds of colored sugar balls, jugs of sour milk, pots of tea, all put on the table at once. But the prize dish was the centerpiece. A bowl of American stuffed olives.

Sherwood and Anne sampled them at once. Mackey made a wry face. "I leave olives to lovers."

"You're a pal," said Sherwood giving his shoulder a friendly slap, his voice natural, but in his eyes, Anne saw, a look of torment. Suddenly he clenched his fists and rose. "Pete, isn't there something we can do?"

"Start a fight and get shot for our pains."

"I might start a fight," suggested Anne. "They're afraid to murder me." She was feeling extraordinarily alive as if her food had given her the energy of half a dozen people.

The men smiled at her tenderly. Sherwood walked to the entrance and glanced out. He returned and took an olive.

"Here's to you," he said to Anne, and bit in two with his strong white teeth.

"What did you see?" Mackey asked.

"The soldiers are on their camels doing mounted guard duty."

"They must be expecting something to happen."

"If we could at least get hold of a gun!"

She stood at a loss for a moment and then asked Sherwood: "Did you ever do the Apache Dance in school? Could we — to this music?"

"We can do anything we have to," he assured her.

She ran into the tent and got a long striped scarf and tied it about her hips. She felt strangely light-hearted as if she had drunk of Omar's Cup that clears today of past regret and future fears."

"Don't be too rough, remember this dress," she warned him.

He smiled into her eyes. "I'll be gentle," he promised, and she felt that in some obscure way he was teasing her. "We'll try a tango next," he said.

"Ready," shouted Mackey, and started the music with a flourish. One of the camels began to dance. His master made him kneel, muzzled him and sat down beside him.

Sherwood whispered in Anne's ear as he whirled her, "Wish they'd all dismount."

The cook and his assistant were clearing away the table in the tent. Another camel became restless and was brought to his knees.

The audience clapped when she finished. Sherwood said, "You've a very pretty kick."

Mackey struck up an old waltz tune and Sherwood came over and took Anne in his arms and circled the dancing space to the slow sweet music. She felt a tenseness about him as if he were holding himself under iron control.

"Our audience believes that this is our wedding night, Anne," and he kissed her, guiding her into the tent.

Mackey tumbled after them and snatched close the flaps. He was trembling with excitement. Then Anne saw a revolver in Sherwood's hand and remembered his drooping down by one of the soldiers several times.

"Now what?" she demanded.

"Nothing, I'm afraid," he said. "The next move is theirs. We know only that they won't harm you in a way that is called 'murder' in this part of the world." They heard voices unexcited, the grumbling of the camels as they rose and the slow shuffle of padded feet.

"We'll probably hear from them as soon as the fellow discovers the loss of his gun," surmised Mackey and put the harmonica to his mouth again.

Anne looked longingly at the pallet in one corner of the tent and then sat down on the rug, drawing her golden, fluffy skirts about her. Presently she rested her head on her knees. She was unbearably drowsy and weak, and when she looked up again with an effort, she saw that Sherwood's head was weaving from side to side. She thought for a moment he must be drunk.

"I've been drugged," he muttered, making an ineffectual effort to rise to his feet.

Mackey stared from one to the other of them in consternation. "Those stuffed olives'" he cried suddenly. "I thought it was funny we'd have anything so foreign to the country as stuffed olives. They banked on every one of us eating them. Well, I didn't. He took the gun from Sherwood's nerveless hand and went out.

Anne managed to crawl to the pallet before she lost consciousness.

Deserted

THE sun was shining warm on the tent when she woke up. She rose and stumbled to the tent entrance and looked out.

The floor of the basin lay bare of movement except for a light breeze rippling the surface of the tiny lake. No man, no camel, not even the signs of their campfire had been left. Her swimming suit and the men's trunks hung on the tent lines where they had been thrown the night before.

Then she saw Sherwood's body lying, face down on the path to the falls.

The next thing she knew, she lay on the pallet again and someone was gently shaking her shoulder trying to waken her.

She lifted heavy lids and met Sherwood's troubled grey eyes, the hair on top of his head ruffled into unkept ringlets.

"You're alive and unharmed," she exclaimed with growing wonder and delight."

"So are you," he replied as if the words were needed to give him conviction of the fact. "I found you lying outside and you wouldn't waken so I let you sleep while I explored."

He helped her sit up and they rested a bit, her shoulder against his breast. The tent flaps had been thrown back and they could gaze out on the lonely barren landscape bright with sunlight. Presently she moved away that she might look into his face the more easily. He had shaved, she saw, and changed to fresh records.

"What do you know?" she asked rummaging for a comb in her bag.

"Only what my eyes tell me. You and I are here absolutely alone. Mackey gone—the natives gone—the camels gone. The camel rugs gone. The lake is too salt for a swimmer to live in. "I can play a mouth organ," offered Mackey, drawing one from his pocket.

"Well!" remarked Anne, "you've been holding out on us."

"I've been a sick man. Can you sing and dance?"

"After a fashion," she admitted, and turned to Sherwood. "What's your accomplishment?"

He grinned. "Given the chance, I can snake a gun out of another fellow's holster like nobody's business." He rose and propped open the tent. Anne followed him, snapped her fingers and slapped her right foot on the clay, almost as level and sleek as a dance floor. Mackey tuned up on "Lonesome Road," directing Anne, "Now dance."

She stood at a loss for a moment and then asked Sherwood: "Did you ever do the Apache Dance in school? Could we — to this music?"

"We can do anything we have to," he assured her.

Mackey struck up an old waltz tune and Sherwood came over and took Anne in his arms and circled the dancing space to the slow sweet music. She felt a tenseness about him as if he were holding himself under iron control.

"Our audience believes that this is our wedding night, Anne," and he kissed her, guiding her into the tent.

Mackey tumbled after them and snatched close the flaps. He was trembling with excitement. Then Anne saw a revolver in Sherwood's hand and remembered his drooping down by one of the soldiers several times.

"Now what?" she demanded.

"Nothing, I'm afraid," he said. "The next move is theirs. We know only that they won't harm you in a way that is called 'murder' in this part of the world." They heard voices, unexcited, the grumbling of the camels as they rose and the slow shuffle of padded feet.

"We'll probably hear from them as soon as the fellow discovers the loss of his gun," surmised Mackey and put the harmonica to his mouth again.

Anne looked longingly at the pallet in one corner of the tent and then sat down on the rug, drawing her golden, fluffy skirts about her. Presently she rested her head on her knees. She was unbearably drowsy and weak, and when she looked up again with an effort, she saw that Sherwood's head was weaving from side to side. She thought for a moment he must be drunk.

"I've been drugged," he muttered, making an ineffectual effort to rise to his feet.

Mackey stared from one to the other of them in consternation. "Those stuffed olives!" he cried suddenly. "I thought it was funny we'd have anything so foreign to the country as stuffed olives: They banked on every one of us eating them. Well, I didn't. He took the gun from Sherwood's nerveless hand and went out.

Anne managed to crawl to the pallet before she lost consciousness.

Deserted

THE sun was shining warm on the tent when she woke up. She rose and stumbled to the tent entrance and looked out.

The floor of the basin lay bare of movement except for a light breeze rippling the surface of the tiny lake. No man, no camel, not even the signs of their campfire had been left. Her swimming suit and the men's trunks hung on the tent lines where they had been thrown the night before.

Then she saw Sherwood's body lying, face down on the path to the falls.

The next thing she knew, she lay on the pallet again and someone was gently shaking her shoulder trying to waken her.

She lifted heavy lids and met Sherwood's troubled grey eyes, the hair on top of his head ruffled into unkept ringlets.

"You're alive and unharmed," she exclaimed with growing wonder and delight."

"So are you," he replied as if the words were needed to give him conviction of the fact. "I found you lying outside and you wouldn't waken so I let you sleep while I explored."

He helped her sit up and they rested a bit, her shoulder against his breast. The tent flaps had been thrown back and they could gaze out on the lonely barren landscape bright with sunlight. Presently she moved away that she might look into his face the more easily. He had shaved, she saw, and changed to whipcords.

"What do you know?" she asked rummaging for a comb in her bag.

"Only what my eyes tell me. You and I are here absolutely alone. Mackey gone—the natives gone—the camels gone. The camel fleas gone. The lake is too salt for a shrimp to live in. Even green mold refuses to grow on the barren clay of the stream bank from the falls to the lake."

"We have no food, no fuel, no cup, and no tool or weapon except my safety razor and your Nagara dagger."

ART PUPILS AT BEATY PRESENT ANNUAL EXHIBIT

Art work being shown in the Second avenue window of the Metzger-Wright store through Friday is representative of the work of all boys and girls of the seventh and eighth grades at Beaty school, according to the instructor, Mrs. Leslie G. Fobes.

Art education in the Junior high school is now a required subject, consequently its chief concern is not the child's drawing ability but the development of judgment and art appreciation. Painting, drawing, modeling and craftwork are all given each semester to aid in the development of appreciation.

Art gives the adolescent child the opportunity to express himself, gives him guidance in his desire to create and, along with this, he learns the art principles. Much freedom of the imagination has been allowed in the craftwork and drawing shown in the exhibit. Many boys and girls learn some craft hobby during school days and are encouraged to paint and draw for the fun derived from it. In each semester of art, emphasis is placed on design, color, illustration, lettering, poster making and art appreciation.

Examples of the possibilities of design and drawing from nature are shown in many ways in this current display. There are border designs which use fish as the main motif, made by 7A pupils, and imaginary birds and flowers used in design can be identified in one group of 8B art. A study of lovely line and color is represented in four cut-paper flower pictures made by 8B girls; also a group of cut-paper bird designs by a class of 7A boys.

In the center back of the window are several very colorful, lovely illustrations, designed and painted with poster paints by 8A boys and girls.

The second semester eighth grade art is the last that is required and at this time an introduction is given to the use of the medium called pastels. Three framed pastel landscapes arranged to the left of the window deserve special mention. These were drawn by Helen Claire Hulings, Marilyn Emery and Alice Alexander. There are also many excellent beginners' attempts at pastels, mounted and hung at the back of the display. Some of these are copies of colored pictures and a few are originals.

The floor groupings represent the craft problems of both grades. Papere mache has proved a very fascinating method of making masques, paper pottery and puppets, examples of which may be seen.

The very popular jerkin was chosen as a craft problem by a class of girls in 8A art and these were designed and embroidered in class. Two very fine results were made by Molly Wroth and Violet Merchant.

A member of the special class, Harold Smawley, has two craft pieces represented, namely a "Silent Butler" and a "Twine Dispenser".

Other problems are linoleum carving, soap carving, wood blocks, burlap purses, crayonex wall hangings and folios and note pads.

Pastor And Family Are Honored at Reception in St. Paul's Church

Approximately 250 persons, members of the congregation and friends, gathered in St. Paul's Lutheran church last evening to tender a reception to the new pastor, Rev. Bertil Edquist and his family.

Beginning at eight o'clock, the following program was given in the church auditorium:

Organ prelude, "At Even" by Siddall; organ selection, "Temple March" by Vincent; opening hymn, "Jesus Call Us O'er the Tumult"; invocation, Rev. Lawrence Nordstrom, Jamestown, N. Y.; welcome, Hilmar Roos, master of ceremonies; cornet solos, "Souvenir" by Drdla and "The Victor," Willis Lundahl, accompanied by Joan Jacobson; reading, "Reception to a New Minister" by Anne Hoppe, read by Donald Carlson; vocal solo, "The Lord's Prayer" by Malotte, Virginia Davis, accompanied by Mrs. Emil Jacobson; violin solo, "Salut D'Amour" by Elgar, Hartley Holmberg, accompanied by Gene Ezell.

Rev. Nordstrom brought greetings from his own church, from other ministers, their wives and parishes in Jamestown. Rev. Edward K. Rogers extended a greeting from his family and the First Lutheran church here and Rev. John C. Bengtson spoke for the Bethlehem Congregational church and other faiths in the community.

The program continued with an organ and piano number, "Fest Marsch" by Bernin, played by Mrs. Jacobson and Joan Jacobson, and an address and greetings by Rev. Wallace Johnson, pastor of the Chandlers Valley Lutheran church. Sam Davis directed a choir of 30 voices in "Soldiers of Christ, Arise" by Minshall.

Little Miss Arleen Rydgren presented a lovely corsage to Mrs. Edquist and Robert Swanson, president of the board of trustees and head of the Men's Brotherhood, presented a purse of money to the new pastor.

The program was concluded with a hymn, "Blest Be the Tie That Binds" and the organ postlude.

The group adjourned to the church dining room, where two tables were appointed in pastel shades and presided over by Mrs. Harold Nelson and Mrs. Gust Miller. The function was arranged by the board of deacons, and wives of deacons and trustees, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Harold Passinger, were in charge of refreshments. Decorations throughout the church were artistically carried out with gladioli, peonies and poppies.

KIDNEYS MUST REMOVE EXCESS ACIDS

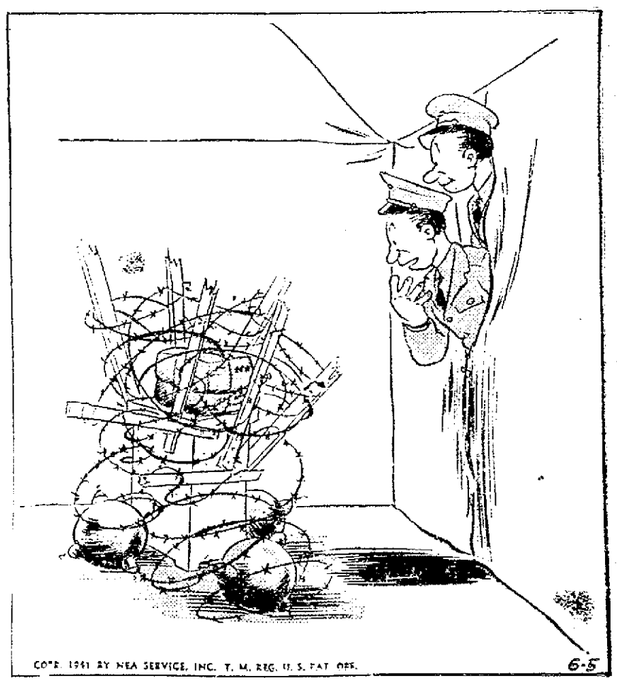

Help 15 Miles of Kidney Tubes Flush Out Poisonous Waste

If you have an excess of acids in your blood, your 15 miles of kidney tubes may be overworked. These tiny filters and tubes are working day and night to help Nature rid your system of excess acids and poisonous waste.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Kidneys may need help the same as bowels, so ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Simply by staying in out of the wet while their chief rivals were fumbling themselves into defeat the Brooklyn Dodgers have climbed back into the National League leadership.

They are a half-game in front of the St. Louis Cardinals, who dropped a 4 to 2 decision to the Boston Braves in one of the three games played in the big leagues yesterday and tumble from the top for the first time since May 19.

It marked the fifth defeat for the Cardinals in their last six games.

The Cards' infield, regarded by many observers as the one questionable spot in an otherwise great team, committed three errors to present the Braves with the same number of unearned runs and the margin of victory. Rookie Frank Crespi made two of them at second base and Jimmy Brown bobbed up with another at third.

If Brooklyn does finally beat St. Louis to the finish line in this hot National League race, some experts say it will happen only because the Dodgers' Billy Hedman is a little smoother and more experienced than the Cardinals' Crespi around second base. That is how closely the two leaders appear to be matched at this stage.

Johnny Mize's big bat still is being missed from the Card lineup. They made nine hits yesterday off Art Johnson, the Boston rookie, but probably wouldn't have scored at all if Johnson had covered first more spryly on Enos Slaughter's infield single after two were out in the sixth. The Braves rapped Harry Gumbert for 11 hits and handed him his first defeat since joining the Cards.

All the other National League contests were washed out.

The St. Louis Browns, playing their last game under Manager Fred Haney, walloped the unfortunate Washington Senators 7 to 4 and thereby climbed to the dizzy height of seventh place in the American League. Luke Sewell, their new pilot, can never claim he was saddled with a last-place outfit. President Don Barnes' timing was perfect, if slightly peculiar.

Under the lights at Comiskey Park last night, the Chicago White Sox observed "Connie Mack" night by walloping his Athletics, 6-1, behind the five-hit pitching of Thornton Lee.

"DEACON BILL" STILL SURE HIS REDS WILL WIN

Philadelphia, June 5—(AP)—Don't get the idea that Deacon Bill McKechnie is down in the mouth these days what with his World Champion Cincinnati Reds in fifth place 11½ games behind the leading Brooklyn and St. Louis clubs.

Of course his star hitter Frank McCormick is batting a mere .230. His great third sacker Bill Werber is in the hospital for observation because of water on the knee and the rest of the outfit isn't hitting enough to scare a cat off the back fence.

But McKechnie is cheerful—one might even say enthusiastic—over the Reds' chances. Just ask if there's any hope of retaining the National League pennant and hear him go to town.

"I should say we have," declares Bill, "Look back at the records. We always get hot the latter part of the season when the weather gets hot. That's when we play our best ball. After the all-star game last year we were in second place and we won the pennant with plenty to spare.

"We'll get started. My club looks fine now. And if Thompson and Vander Meer can team along with Walters and Derringer, we'll be right up there. Thompson looked good his last time out. Vander Meer is getting steadier and better all the time. I think he's in for a great season."

What about the Dodgers and Cards?

"They're two fine clubs but they haven't hit a real slump yet. That's when our fine pitching and tight defense will tell.

"I think Werber will be back in a few days and then we'll be all set. No, don't count us out of the race by any means. We just aren't hot yet."

Luke Sewell Signed To Take Haney's Job As Pilot Of Browns

St. Louis, June 5—(AP)—Affable Luke Sewell, veteran American League catcher and Cleveland Indians' coach, stepped into the frying pan today as manager of the floundering St. Louis Browns.

He was signed to a two-year contract last night replacing Fred Haney in a swift move aimed at improving the miserable plight of the club that was expected to be the surprise team of the junior circuit this season. Haney had been manager since 1939.

A change of pilots had been rumored for several days, but the announcement by President Barnes caught even newsmen by surprise. It came less than two hours after the Brownies had won their second straight game from Washington to move out of the cellar into seventh place.

Terms of the contract, to run through 1942, were not disclosed, but Barnes said:

"Something had to be done the way things were going and I believe we got the right man."

Luke took over immediately and said he expected to be coaching at third base this afternoon. Obviously overjoyed with the promotion the 40-year-old Sewell conferred at length with Barnes and associates over plans for rejuvenating the club, but said he contemplated "no revolutionary changes" either among players or the coaching staff—at least not at present.

He carefully avoided predictions of what results he expected, stating simply he was happy to have the chance "and I will make the most of it."

"I have seen the Browns in action five times this season," he added, "and in those games pitching seemed to be the principal weakness and I believe I can do something about that."

Haney, who took his dismissal good naturedly, predicted the club would finish in fourth or fifth place.

"It's too good a ball club to be down on the bottom," he commented, "and I'm glad to see fellow like Sewell get the job."

Haney said he had no immediate plans.

Sewell jumped directly into the major leagues from Alabama University in 1921 and has played with Cleveland, Washington, the Chicago White Sox and Brooklyn. He rejoined the Indians as a player-coach in 1939, but no longer was on the active list.

All who heard Benny Friedman at North Warren last Tuesday night will agree he's a very entertaining dinner speaker. While his topic had no special plot, the little incidents he recalled from his brilliant career playing and coaching football, were enjoyed by everyone. We liked one especially, and we feel it will do no harm to pass it on to those of you who missed the opportunity to hear the former All-American of Michigan.

Friedman was going to a dinner party one night and he had a very nice dinner partner. Things were quiet until she started the conversation by telling him of her two small youngsters, who were too young to play football, but played soccer and were forever getting their shins bruised. Asking him if he encountered the same trouble in football he replied that he did. Then Benny went on to tell her that a doctor had given him a remedy for guarding against shin bruises. It seems that the doctor, a former football star himself, had told Friedman to buy a copy of Liberty, tear it in half and wrap a part around both legs, to be covered by athletic socks. The sticky surface over the paper, when warmed up by body temperature, Friedman explained to her, would form a sort of cast which would guard the legs against all kinds of accidents, to a certain extent.

By that time, Friedman and his lady friend were at the table, and he regarded the subject of bandaged up shins as closed. All at once the lady turned to him, and in all innocence said, "Mr. Friedman, we don't subscribe to the Liberty. Would the New Yorker do?"

And that is what you meet up with being an outstanding football player and coach. Friedman now, by the way, is coaching at the City College of New York.

NATION'S BEST TEE OFF TODAY FOR OPEN TITLE

BY WILLIAM T. RIVES

Fort Worth, Texas, June 5—(AP)—Golf's greatest extravaganza—the National Open—started today in the cow country of Texas, the linksman state which produced a band of professionals ranked as favorites to conquer the Colonial Club course.

All records attendant to the tournament teetered as the field cautiously spread over the par 35-35—70 layout, which has had the nation's finest golfers muttering through practice rounds.

Never before has the Open been held this far south and Texans stampeded to the course. The advance ticket sales record already broken, officials freely forecast that the attendance figure would be shattered before Saturday's finale.

Home folks declared it was Texas against the field, and only a few would say them nay.

Installed as No. 1 favorite was lean Byron Nelson, former Fort Worth caddy whose string-straight game appeared made to order for the course.

Close behind was Benny Hogan, another local product who is leading the Vardon Trophy race and in money won this year.

Other Texans in the running were: Jimmy Demaret, who toted bags around Houston courses in early youth; the Mangrum brothers, Lloyd and Ray; Dick Metz; and Guldahl, who twice won the title.

The talk was all about the Texans and Lawson Little, defending champion; Gene Sarazen, the country squire from Connecticut who breezed around in two-under-par 68 yesterday; Sammy Snead, playing well despite an ailing back; Craig Wood, another "cripple"; and Paul Runyan, usually poison on a demanding links.

CONN INDICTED

Pittsburgh, June 5—(AP)—The grand jury yesterday indicted Billy Conn, who will seek Joe Louis' heavyweight boxing crown in New York on June 18, on a charge of operating his automobile illegally.

The indictment resulted from the young boxer's arrest May 12 on a charge of speeding and discovery that his license had been suspended some time before because of another speeding charge.

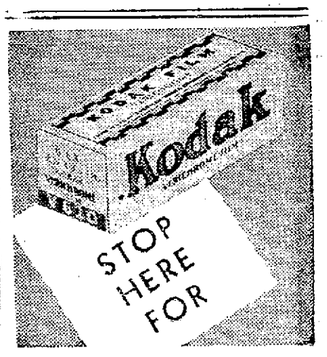

Yesterday's Stars

Johnny Berardino, Browns—Tripled in the seventh inning with the bases loaded to beat Washington, 7 to 4.

Arthur Johnson and 'Bama Rowell, Braves—Pitched and batted Casey Stengel's lads to a 4-2 victory over St. Louis, knocking the Cards from first place in the National League.

Thornton Lee, White Sox—Hurled five-hit ball against the Philadelphia Athletics for a 6-1 victory.

New York, June 5—Lou Gehrig always had a horror of public funerals, so his own was private. And the Yankees already have had one suggestion to call it Gehrig Stadium from now on....Add Leo Durocher to the list of those who've already counted the Reds out.....Letters to friends here say Hans Kolhaus, the German boxer who helped Max Schmeling train for the first Louis fight, was killed in the Panzer attack on Holland....What would you say if somebody should pop up with a $50,000 golf tournament? Well, boys, one is being talked—and not in tap rooms, either.

Dots And Dashes

Youngest starter in the Open down at Fort Worth today will be 15-year-old Tyrrel Garth, Jr., of Beaumont. And Gene Dahlbender of Atlanta who pokes his drives 300 yards, is only 17...Fred C. Frick and William C. Harridge, presidents of the National and American Leagues, are very much in favor of turning the Cincinnati-Cleveland exhibition game at Cooperstown next week into a memorial to Lou Gehrig.....They figure the Open crown is worth about 20 grand per year to the winner, although Sam Snead has topped that figure for the last four years without the title....Fans at the Amherst-Williams game got a taste of big league stuff when Ernie Quigley and Bill Klem, two former greats, did the umpiring.

Luke Sewell Signed To Take Haney's Job As Pilot Of Browns

St. Louis, June 5—(AP)—Affable Luke Sewell, veteran American League catcher and Cleveland Indians' coach, stepped into the frying pan today as manager of the floundering St. Louis Browns.

He was signed to a two-year contract last night replacing Fred Haney in a swift move aimed at improving the miserable plight of the club that was expected to be the surprise team of the junior circuit this season. Haney had been manager since 1939.

A change of pilots had been rumored for several days, but the announcement by President Barnes caught even newsmen by surprise. It came less than two hours after the Brownies had won their second straight game from Washington to move out of the cellar into seventh place.

Terms of the contract, to run through 1942, were not disclosed, but Barnes said:

"Something had to be done the way things were going and I believe we got the right man."

Luke took over immediately and said he expected to be coaching at third base this afternoon. Obviously overjoyed with the promotion the 40-year-old Sewell conferred at length with Barnes and associates over plans for rejuvenating the club, but said he contemplated "no revolutionary changes" either among players or the coaching staff—at least not at present.

He carefully avoided predictions of what results he expected, stating simply he was happy to have the chance "and I will make the most of it."

"I have seen the Browns in action five times this season," he added, "and in those games pitching seemed to be the principal weakness and I believe I can do something about that."

Haney, who took his dismissal good naturedly, predicted the club would finish in fourth or fifth place.

"It's too good a ball club to be down on the bottom," he commented, "and I'm glad to see fellow like Sewell get the job."

Haney said he had no immediate plans.

Sewell jumped directly into the major leagues from Alabama University in 1921 and has played with Cleveland, Washington, the Chicago White Sox and Brooklyn. He rejoined the Indians as a player-coach in 1939, but no longer was on the active list.

CONN INDICTED

Pittsburgh, June 5—(AP)—The grand jury yesterday indicted Billy Conn, who will seek Joe Louis' heavyweight boxing crown in New York on June 18, on a charge of operating his automobile illegally.

The indictment resulted from the young boxer's arrest May 12 on a charge of speeding and discovery that his license had been suspended some time before because of another speeding charge

SHORE RIVAL

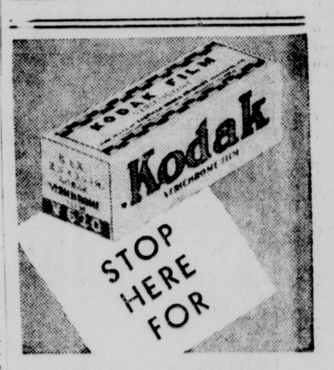

Philadelphia, June 5—(AP)—The Philadelphia Transportation Company has broken out with new signs advertising its Broad street subway as just the place to spend hot summer days.

New metal signs at subway entrances read: "It's cool—it's fast."

PTC Representative John F. Grogan said subway temperatures average 10 to 15 degrees below street level.

Sports Round-up

BY EDDIE BRIETZ

New York, June 5—Lou Gehrig always had a horror of public funerals, so his own was private. And the Yankees already have had one suggestion to call it Gehrig Stadium from now on....Add Leo Durocher to the list of those who've already counted the Reds out.....Letters to friends here say Hans Kolhaus, the German boxer who helped Max Schmeling train for the first Louis fight, was killed in the Panzer attack on Holland....What would you say if somebody should pop up with a $50,000 golf tournament? Well, boys, one is being talked—and not in tap rooms, either.

He Can Dream, Can't He?

Here's bit of wishful hopin',
Sammy Snead to win the open;
The heavy crown to rest upon
The curly head of Billy Conn;
And then the New York Yanks to maul
The Daffy Dodgers in the fall.
—Charles Schaefer.

Dots And Dashes

Youngest starter in the Open down at Fort Worth today will be 15-year-old Tyrrel Garth, Jr., of Beaumont. And Gene Dahlbender of Atlanta who pokes his drives 300 yards, is only 17...Fred C. Frick and William C. Harridge, presidents of the National and American Leagues, are very much in favor of turning the Cincinnati-Cleveland exhibition game at Cooperstown next week into a memorial to Lou Gehrig.....They figure the Open crown is worth about 20 grand per year to the winner, although Sam Snead has topped that figure for the last four years without the title....Fans at the Amherst-Williams game got a taste of big league stuff when Ernie Quigley and Bill Klem, two former greats, did the umpiring.

Today's Guest Star

Joe Blenkie, Idaho Falls Post-Register: "The Reds are losing with such regularity it looks like the experts had 'em sized up correctly last spring....They told everyone the Reds were the team to beat.....And brother, that's what the other teams are doing."

Interesting People

Victor O. Jones, Sports editor of the Boston Evening Globe, has been awarded a scholarship to Harvard....Bud Taylor, once the Terror of Terre Haute, who earned $100,000 with his fists, now works for a ten spot a day as a boiler maker in Indianapolis...M-G-M has signed Maxie Rosenbloom for a featured role in "Ringside Maisie," soon to be produced....And Betty Shellenberger, the Philadelphia lacrosse and Hockey star, just can't stand squeaks in her auto, so she carries a screw driver and monkey wrench around in her handbag....They're saying Billy Evans may be back in baseball next year as head of the Milwaukee Brewers.

Ah Ha

A Pittsburgh item in the morning papers says Billy Conn has been indicted out there for speeding without a license....That's one way to get in shape to run away from Louis.

Field Day

Jupiter Pluvius yesterday washed away most of the big league ball games—and Fred Haney.

On another defense front, meanwhile, the Maritime Commission moved closer to the 2,000,000-ton goal President Roosevelt set for it several weeks ago when he directed the creation of a special shipping pool in the interest of the defense and British aid programs.

The commission called upon Atlantic and Gulf coastwise steamship operators to turn over half their tonnage to the pool. Approximately 125 ships with a total tonnage of 750,000 are now in the two coastwise services.

The acquisition of 375,000 tons from this source would put the tonnage earmarked for the pool at about 1,875,000 tons lined up, counting in almost 500,000 tons of refugee foreign shipping which the government would take over under terms of the bill now awaiting President Roosevelt's signature.

Floods In State Are Subsiding

Two towboats, valued at $50,000 each, and 10 barges loaded with sand and gravel were swept from their moorings at the Iron City Sand and Gravel Company's wharf in Pittsburgh. The towboats, the Poppy and the Steel City, crashed into a railroad bridge pier and sank while the barges were carried downstream.

John Lacey, 9, of Uniontown fell into Red Stone creek and drowned. John Savage, 16, of Mt. Sterling, was fatally injured in the collapse of an old brick building whose foundation was weakened by torrential rains. Four companions escaped.

A man identified as Harold Batten of McKeesport was swept down a creek when he stepped out of his automobile, stalled by waters on route 51 near Spillway Lake. He was believed drowned.

Red Cross workers went to Granville and Walkertown to give emergency assistance.

On another defense front, meanwhile, the Maritime Commission moved closer to the 2,000,000-ton goal President Roosevelt set for it several weeks ago when he directed the creation of a special shipping pool in the interest of the defense and British aid programs.

The commission called upon Atlantic and Gulf coastwise steamship operators to turn over half their tonnage to the pool. Approximately 125 ships with a total tonnage of 750,000 are now in the two coastwise services.

The acquisition of 375,000 tons from this source would put the tonnage earmarked for the pool at about 1,875,000 tons lined up, counting in almost 500,000 tons of refugee foreign shipping which the government would take over under terms of the bill now awaiting President Roosevelt's signature.

intestinal trouble, but after several days of artificial feeding he grew so strong that doctors pronounced him out of danger.

Tuesday afternoon, however, physicians said, some unusual movement of the octogenarian patient caused a clot of blood to enter into the lungs and he fell into a coma. He died without having regained consciousness.

NAME PURCHASING AGENT

Pittsburgh, June 5.—(AP)—The Philadelphia Company has named Walter H. Arras general purchasing agent for the utilities concern and its subsidiaries. He succeeded C. W. Lepper, retired. Russell C. Wenz succeeded Arras as assistant general purchasing agent.

MOON SUPERSTITIONS

In the Middle East, exposure to the rays of the moon is said to cause nightmare as well as headaches, and in the Far East a morning "thick-head" is added to these symptoms. In Burma, there is a belief that when the insane suffer from mental storms these correspond to the phases of the moon.

LONDON'S DOCKS

The biggest and most vital docks of London are concentrated within a 10-mile area near the center of the city. In normal times, this commercial port handles 70 per cent of England's meat imports, 56 per cent of the rubber, 44 per cent of the wool, 33 per cent of the oil and 27 per cent of the timber.

RELATIONSHIPS

More closely related than parents and children are brothers and sisters. Brothers and sisters have all common blood, while a parent and child have one-half common blood.

PERPETUAL CITIZENSHIP

Lafayette was granted perpetual American citizenship for himself and his descendants for his aid in the Revolutionary War. His descendants still hold the privilege.

COLONIAL COWS

In the early days of Plymouth colony, the value of cows was such that one cow usually was owned by six or more men because of a scarcity of beef.

DESTROYED BUT HELPFUL

House centipedes prey upon clothes moths and cockroaches, but most people kill these great benefactors of mankind on sight.

K. P.—With Class!

Styled along trim military lines in olivedrab herringbone, the open-throat, pleated jacket dungaree, modeled at left, will be worn in best potato peeling circles by men of the army assigned to kitchen police and like details. It comes with cap to match. Blue denim type fatigue clothes, right, are definitely passe. These smiling peelers are pictured at Philadelphia.

CELEBRATE 9TH ANNIVERSARY AT PLEASING PARTY

Youngsville, June 5—Rev. and Mrs. C. D. Dibble celebrated their ninth wedding anniversary on June 3. Guests from away were Mrs. Dibble's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Schusel, of Albion, also Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Joslin and daughter, of Albion. Mr. and Mrs. Joslin celebrated their 44th wedding anniversary the same day as the Dibbles. Miss Evalyn Joslin was a bridesmaid at the wedding of Rev. and Mrs. Dibble.

ALUMNI BANQUET

About 140 were present Tuesday evening at the Youngsville High School Alumni banquet held in the high school gymnasium, which was artistically trimmed in streamers of school colors and balloons.

Tables were attractively decorated and a very good dinner was served by the Parent-Teacher Association. Walter Sheffer acted as toastmaster, with speakers, Superintendent Paul Getts, Rev. Wallace Johnson, Miss Jo Anne Fumone and Charles Chase.

At the alumni business session, Kenneth Sample was elected president; Walter Sheffer, vice president; Miss Phyllis Engstrom, secretary, and Miss Norma Johnson, treasurer.

During the latter part of the evening dancing was enjoyed, with music provided by the Beebe Orchestra of Warren.

CHILDREN'S DAY

A good program is being planned for the Children's Day observance in the United Brethren church on Sunday, June 8. Mrs. Max Gilliland is chairman of the Children's Day program committee.

LONGEST DAM

The world's longest dam will be the Santee dam in South Carolina. When completed in 1941 it will be eight miles long. The Conchas dam in New Mexico is its nearest rival with a length of 26,000 feet.

Most bridge players say there is no such thing as a bluff in bridge as there is in poker, but I've noticed a big husky fellow doesn't get doubled often. And some players may try to take advantage of small opponents.

For example, here is a hand that helped Mrs. Hugh Fullerton win the Ohio State Women's Pairs. I think her opponents were trying to take advantage of her demure personality but she 'pinned their ears back' before the hand was over.

The play opened by North's taking both king and queen of spades. Now Mrs. Fullerton made a brilliant play by leading a third spade into West's tenace, in order to take out dummy's last spade.

West led the singleton heart and won in dummy with the king. A diamond return was won by the jack, Mrs. Fullerton holding off in an effort to kill the suit. Declarer continued with ace and king of diamonds, then cashed the ten of spades and led a fourth diamond.

But Mrs. Fullerton escaped the end-play in clubs, for which declarer was playing, by taking the ace of hearts and leading the six. Thus the defense had to win another heart or a club at the end for the setting trick.

Sugar Grove

Sugar Grove, May 31—The May [illegible] Hill and Dale Garden Club [illegible] Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Stuart [illegible] Mrs. M. L. Johnson, Mrs. [illegible] Abbott and Mrs. [illegible] assisting hostesses. [illegible] arranged the [illegible] with cards with [illegible] descriptions of wild flowers.

Mrs. [illegible] presided at the business meeting. Mrs. D. H. Haggerty was elected as a delegate to the Garden Clubs Federation, meeting in Pittsburgh next week.

The president announced the committee previously appointed to plan a benefit for Bundles for Britain, Mrs. Delmar Mickleson, Mrs. F. A. Schoonover, Mrs. Haggerty and Mrs. McIntosh.

Mrs. Mickleson announced that a box could be arranged at the annual flower show at which all kinds of vegetables, which may be donated by interested persons, would be sold.

Mrs. [illegible] presented the program for the afternoon, which opened with singing "God Bless America", with Mrs. Gerald Miller at the piano. Mrs. D. H. Goggin gave an interesting talk on her recent trip through several of the western states. The study on "What You Can Learn from a Flower Show", was given by Mrs. Edward Barkman.

Mrs. F. A. Schoonover, gave a paper on Sedums, and Mrs. Cumming gave the second of a series of talks on Wild Flowers. Mrs. Clara Burgett arranged a lovely exhibition of May flowers, using both wild flowers and garden flowers.

The hostess served a buffet luncheon at a table with centerpiece of red, white and blue flowers. Mrs. Goggin poured. Thirty-one members and three guests were present.

Mrs. Fulton McKay was given a surprise party Tuesday evening by her mother, Mrs. Stuart, at her home.

Three tables of bridge were played with prizes going to Mrs. R. E. Abbott, Mrs. Arthur Cody, Mrs. J. A. McIntosh and Mrs. John Stuart. Mrs. McKay was presented with several nice birthday gifts. The hostess was assisted in serving by Mrs. John Stuart and Mrs. Scott Stuart, Jr. Mrs. Ernest Anderson, of Jamestown, was an out of town guest.

A family of eight albino squirrels in a tree on the lawn, has been attracting much attention this week.

A special biology class of nine girls, taught as an evening class by Prin. Frank, closed their year's work with a party at the home economics building Tuesday night. The affair, with Miss Mary Holden as a special guest, was arranged by Janet Mack and Marie Norbeck. Special numbers on the program were given by Dorothy Coleman, Betty Saunders, Janet Mack and Marie Norbeck. Dorothy Coleman, in behalf of the class, presented Mr. Frank, with a gift. Refreshments were served as the closing part of the evening.

Sunday guests at the home of Mrs. Clarence White were her sister, Mrs. Lloyd Dewey, husband and daughters, Lois, Jean, and sons Bruce and Robert. Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Dewey, Jr., and baby son Gerry, of Youngstown, O., and Mr. and Mrs. S. Prescott, of Warren. The party was in the form of a farewell for Robert Dewey, who has enlisted in the marines, and will leave for duty, June 2.

Mr. and Mrs. Neil Scott and daughter, Ruth Ann, were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Crosby at Spartansburg.

Mrs. Frederic Dallas and daughter Dianne, of Falconer, N. Y., are guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Stauffer.

Mrs. B. F. McKendree, who has been at Bemus Point for several weeks is spending a few days at her home here.

Mrs. Neil Scott and Mrs. Walter Warner attended a party in honor of Mrs. G. W. Lindberg Tuesday evening, at the home of Mrs. Stanley Erickson, at Ashville.

H. Y. Miller has been ill at his home the past week.

Reports from the W. C. A. Hospital state that Ernest Langin, who has been a patient there the past two weeks, suffering from a broken leg, is doing as well as could be expected.

Several ladies met at the home of Mrs. D. H. Haggerty Tuesday afternoon to do work for Bundles for Britain. Dainty refreshments were served.

Mrs. F. A. Schoonover is confined to her home by illness.

WARREN COUNTY RED CROSS TO HOLD MEETING

A meeting of the Warren County Chapter of the American Red Cross has been called by the executive committee for next Monday evening, June 9, at 7:30 o'clock.
